Coffee plants, big seller, but a poor alternative.

Twelve dollars a can, but it still sells well

A majority of addicted coffee drinkers are hanging on to their habit despite high prices and efforts to boycott the beverage.

That is the opinion of managers of some local grocery stores plus small restaurants serving special blends of the caffeine bean.

None thought a publicized boycott led by Pleasanton housewife Margaret Blackstone would do much good.

"Not unless everybody stops buying coffee, and I don't think they will," said Craig Geis, assistant manager of Lucky's in San Ramon. "Consumers seem to be able to adjust to any price rise if they want the product badly enough or if it's a necessity."

He pointed to gasoline and paper products as examples.

Duane Thurman, assistant manager of Albertsons in Dublin, said he had not noticed the boycott curtailing coffee sales.

"In fact, our sales went up 15 per cent in February," he claimed.

He admitted this could be due to people stockpiling coffee before another price jump took place.

Thurman said his store had received notice a three-pound can of coffee would probably cost $12 by next week.

Donna Michael, an employe at the Bibere Coffee House in Pleasanton, said the boycott had not affected their business.

"Not even after we had to add 10 cents per cupful and raise the price of our pound quantities from four to six dollars," she said.

Ethel Richardson, manager of Aromatica in Pleasanton, said she didn't think the boycott could possibly cause a reduction in coffee prices.

"I wish it would," she said.

She said people coming into Aromatica were buying as many cups of coffee as usual but bulk sales were down.

None of those interviewed were sure why prices had skyrocketed. Some of the reasons they had heard were crop failures due to droughts, rising labor costs, earthquakes, floods and export taxes.

"I suppose you could say inflated coffee prices are a result of a combination of natural and man-made disasters," said Richardson.

The managers said efforts they had made to aid consumers included everything from lowering shelf prices to wholesale level to selling coffee bean plants.

"But people bought the plants mainly because they're pretty," said Thurman from Albertsons. "The brochure accompanying the plants state they grow from six to 18 feet tall and they don't produce until three to five years. Then the first yield only provides about one-and-a-half pounds of coffee."

They are on sale for $1.99.

I can put it back together–Murphy

No misgivings, bitterness, says former supervisor

Pre-defeat

Post-defeat

PLEASANTON — His desk is cluttered only by a few papers. A single-date wall calendar absentmindly declares it Jan. 4. An appointment book opens to a single entry of a newspaper interview at 9 a.m.

Former Alameda County First District Supervisor John D. Murphy sits in a small rented office on Division Street. The obligatory suit and tie no longer required, a sky blue windbreaker hints that the man is undergoing a dramatic change in lifestyle.

A brutally close political war is past, yet hangs in the air like a fog. The recollections materialize as sharp as the opinions stab out. His past is surrendered, and the return to private life well underway.

That transition isn't difficult, Murphy says, since he didn't become entangled in politics as a way of life. "Not me, because I was never hung up on being on the board of supervisors. It never went to my head, to my knowledge.

"I did the job to the best of my ability. When people decided that they would rather have somebody else, that was their wish and they have it. I have no hang-ups; it doesn't bother me a bit."

Friends still clip articles on county problems for him, making it hard to ignore the area he represented for 16 years. But he makes a point to avoid updates on the political scene, buying only out-of-town newspapers and staying away from those weekly supervisors' meetings he attended every Tuesday.

"I go my merry way, and my friends who were my friends are still my friends. They say there's nothing deader than a dead politician — since I was never a politician, it's never had that effect on me."

Murphy has restarted his real estate business, which he says has lain dormant since being appointed supervisor in 1960. "I'm still kind of behind the eight ball because I was not prepared to go back and start up the business again, and I have to start where I was 16 years ago. It was chopped off then — I haven't done anything in real estate to speak of for 12 years — contrary to all the b.s. that was put out during the campaign.

"If I had been involved, I would not be in the situation I'm in today," Murphy says, pointing to the small accomodations. "It's tough getting going, but that's the breaks of the game. I knew what I was getting into when I got into it originally, and I have no misgivings about it. I can put it back together again."

Memories of the November campaign change his tone noticeably. "Is there bitterness? Is there some kind of a hang-up I have coming off the board of supervisors? I would have to say no.

"The only touch of bitterness I have is the manner in which the campaign was conducted. It was made personal. Were I not in public life, I could have sued people for the way it was put on, about how I was a

Sample ballots just in time

A little late, but just under the line — the last of the sample ballots for Tuesday's election should be delivered today.

For those who waited to get the sample ballot before sending for an absentee ballot, it IS too late — the deadline has already passed. But for other local voters, there will still be a few days to read the fine print on each school board candidate before making a decision on Tuesday.

The Registrar of Voters office in Oakland had no explanation for the unusually late sample ballots. "We mailed them from Oakland 10 days before the election, as required," said a spokesperson there. "The last of the sample ballots were hand - carried to Livermore last Saturday."

Mark Foster, postmaster for Pleasanton and Dublin, says his office received their batch Monday night. Most were delivered Tuesday and Wednesday, the remainder yesterday. Because of their unusual shape, Foster said, they couldn't all be fit into the carriers' mailbags at once.

Livermore carriers worked two hours overtime getting their batch of ballots ready for delivery yesterday and today. "I'm crossing my fingers," said Postmaster David Eldridge, "that more don't come in."

The only item for Valley voters will be the school board election. There are a total of 23 candidates — eight in Livermore, four in Amador, five in Murray and six in the Pleasanton Elementary district.

Teacher pact 'fact-finding' sees progress

PLEASANTON— Tom Zach, president of the Amador Valley Teachers Association, representing teachers in the Pleasanton Joint School District, said yesterday he has information that the pending fact-finding summary is at least partly favorable to district teachers.

The report of the fact-finding hearing, held Feb. 10, is expected to be presented both sides by fact-finder Robert Leventhal next week.

Via a statement read to Pleasanton district board members Wednesday, AVTA said it will accept the report of the fact-finder "sight unseen" as a spur to consummate a contract between teachers and administration for 1976-77. Teachers, in fact, voted 134-2 Tuesday to accept the yet unreleased recommendations of the fact-finder "and immediately sign a contract based upon those recommendations."

Zach told The Times the administration, through counsel Keith Breon, undoubtedly has an idea of what the fact-finder will present.

Though Leventhal conducted the February fact-finding hearing, input was also gathered by three persons, including Breon as the administration representative and Jim Sutton, a California Teachers Association financial section aide. A majority of two make the final recommendations, which are purely advisory and do not have to be followed by either side.

The statement read by Jim Kenrick, vice president of AVTA and a teacher at Walnut Grove, also said that if fact-finding "fails," in the teachers view, they would file suit to have the step and salary increments

Rent subsidies for low, middle income

LIVERMORE — Officials from the Alameda County Housing Authority office in Hayward will be in the Valley next month to enroll low - to - middle income level families in a special subsidized housing program.

The program is different from low income housing projects like Leahy Square in Livermore and Komandorski Village in Pleasanton which are directly subsidized by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The county program, known as "Section 8", involves families negotiating directly with private rental unit owners who receive subsidies from the county.

The program has been in operation more than a year, but eligibility supervisor Harvey Levy noted, "We're trying to make it more convenient to people who can't come into the Hayward office."

Applications will be taken at the Komandorski Village Community Center on pougherty Road. Advance appointments are required, and may be made by calling 828-3132. Office hours will be 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The county operates the program as part of a joint powers agreement with Pleasanton and Livermore housing authorities.

Although income levels of participating families vary, with a ceiling of $13,600 per year for a family of four, each family pays approximately 25 per cent of income directly to the landlord.

"We determine family eligibility, depending on income and family size," said Levy, who explained families attend a briefing where the program is explained before they receive a certificate of participation.

That certificate allows them to go into the community for 60 days, he said, to find proper housing with correct bedroom sizes and a fair market rent.

Three's a crowd—Raymond

The Valley's county supervisor, Valerie Raymond, won't be joining Supervisors John George and Charles Santana Sunday when they talk to female inmates being held in previously all - male Greystone maximum security area of Santa Rita Prison.

Raymond said Tuesday at the supervisors meeting she might join the pair, but has decided that two supervisors' presence is enough at the facility.

Raymond and Santana a week ago had requested permission from Sheriff Tom Houchins to enter Greystone to interview the prisoners, but they withdrew the request before Houchins could reply.

The pair withdrew the request because they learned that both the county grand jury and a panel of three judges plans to interview female prisoners at Santa Rita about conditions there.

Female prisoners have alleged poor facilities and treatment in the move to Greystone. They also are not happy about things in the women's regular quarters, which usually house 70 or 80 female prisoners.

"The full and exhaustive report that can be expected from the grand jury is likely to accomplish more than a one hour spot visit by me," Raymond told The Times Wednesday. "George and Santana are going out Sunday and I don't see a need for all of us to descend en masse."

McAlister to seek post

State Assemblyman Alister McAlister, a political ally of Assemblyman Floyd Mori of Pleasanton, said yesterday he will run for attorney general next year.

The San Jose Democrat, a death penalty supporter and law-and-order hard-liner, predicted he will be the only Democrat running for that office with strong law enforcement support.

State Attorney General Evelle Younger says he expects to seek the Republican nomination for governor, and in any case will not run for reelection.

Murder trial delayed

The murder trial of Jack Raymond Horner, the 66-year-old Dublin man accused of shooting his wife to death Oct. 14, was continued yesterday by to a March 28 start.

Judge Lionel Wilson granted attorney Leon Anderson's request to delay the trial so the defense could better prepare its case. The new trial date is set for March 28 at 9 a.m.

A former captain in the sheriff's department reserve unit, Horner was found in a semi-conscious state near his wife's body. Barbara Mae Horner, 49, had been killed by a single .38-caliber bullet to the head.

Horner has pleaded "not guilty" to the charge, claiming a gun he handed his wife discharged accidentally. The weapon was found in her right hand.

Seniors' needs explored

Senior citizens throughout the Valley will get to take another crack at making their transportation needs known Monday, March 7 from 10 a.m. to 12 noon at Shannon Community Center in Dublin.

This will be the second such meeting. The first was held Jan. 11 in Pleasanton. Representatives of county government and various agencies attended.

Beer guzzling test nears

If you would like to test your beer drinking prowess, then belly up to the bar March 17 at the sixth annual green beer drinking contest sponsored by the Dublin Chamber of Commerce.

It will be held at Howard Johnsons in Dublin from 12 noon to 1:30 p.m. in conjunction with a luncheon. The beer is free but if you care to attend the luncheon, there is a $5 fee.

There will be three categories this year: one for men under 40 years, another for men over 40 and one for women. The first group will be given 32 ounces to gulp at a time; the second, 16 ounces and the ladies amount is to be determined.

A sign-up sheet for the beer bust is available at the Dublin Chamber office at 7996 Amador Valley. Luncheon reservations can be made there or at Howard Johnsons.

PCP fight

PCP use has risen in the Valley; doctors warn of its risks; police arrest users and dealers; teens are still attracted to it.

Today, the conclusion of The Times series on this mysterious drug examines the role Hotline counselors play in the fight to combat PCP abuse. Their biggest weapon is a good dose of self esteem.

Amador wins one, loses one

Self esteem: The weapon against PCP

If communications and understanding are the key to fighting PCP abuse, Hotline counselors in Pleasanton are opening a lot of locks.

They note cubbyholing doesn't work in PCP counseling, realizing users come from various types of backgrounds. One common denominator seems to be communications gaps in families where parents are often too tired after a day's work to take an interest in the youngsters.

Typical teen counseling sessions start because of problems with friends, parents or school officials, according to Hotline Director Candy Ingram. "When we ask how they handle their problems, one of the ways often mentioned is the use of chemicals," said Ingram. "They don't just come and say, 'I want to talk to you about my PCP use.' "

"We talk about the context in which the drug is used," said Ingram, indicating Hotline counselors don't preach to the users and always keep the counseling on a confidential level.

"In some cases we may point out what the effects of PCP could be, in a non-judgemental and educational manner," she said.

Counselor Richard Grove told of one nine - year - old boy from a fatherless home who went into a Valley park to be with older male teens, asking for drugs and acceptance.

"People would get a kick out of turning him on and see a little kid freak," said Grove. "He later tried to sell PCP to other kids in his peer group so he could have an identity."

The youngster had been referred to Hotline by school officials who only knew he was acting "crazy."

Six months later, he was moved to a home in the country where he "established new relationships that were not chemical."

Both Ingram and Grove stress the difference between experimental and chronic use of any drug, including alcohol.

"When people use PCP because of their need to medicate emotionally that is a cop out," said Ingram. "It is an alternative to a life situation for a person not able to deal with life."

The risky high—PCP conclusion

She noted the "compound effect" when PCP causes constant depression and a "vicious cycle."

It's a case of "I'm depressed so I will use this drug, so I'm depressed, so I will . . ."

With the lightly abusive user, Hotline reports a good success rate with 3-6 months of counseling. Others could take a five year process for full recovery.

"It's a human dilemna. We all have periods of ups and downs and changes in personality," said Ingram. "We sometimes get stuck in a particular place and feel we have no alternative."

"There can be change, but at the time of depression we feel nothing will change," she added. "When we medicate with a drug, it postpones the change."

She calls that medication "a holding pattern of down," but stresses the way up is a good dose of self - esteem.

reinstated, join with Amador district teachers in a joint crisis calendar, call for physical and financal support from CTA and the National Education Association and also call for a strike vote— "if all other means of achieving a settlement fail."

The AVTA statement opined that "although it is inconceivable to us that you would reject the fact-finder's recommendation after requesting it, we are not not naive enough to ignore that possibility. Since the recommendations are advisory, that possibility does exist. Such action, however, could certainly not be considered negotiating in good faith."

The statement read by Kenrick adds, "By voting to accept the fact-finder's report and recommendations without knowing the full content of it we are aware that many of the findings may not support our demands. It is our feeling that be agreeing to the fact-finding process, we are bound to accept the results. To do otherwise would be to make a mockery of the system."

Zach, however, said the teachers unit has received indications, apparently via Sutton, as to what the fact-finder statement includes.

Amador teacher unit leadership is awaiting administration reaction to the Pleasanton fact-finding process before deciding whether to implement a strike vote taken last week.

The district has 10 days after receiving the fact-finder's recommendations before having to make them public.

In other business Wednesday, trustees received an audit for the period July 1, 1975 to June 30, 1976, from Bray and Burke. Superintendent Bruce Newlin, following business manager Doug Rose's report, characterized the audit as reflecting a sound business operation throughout.

Trustees approved a change in attendance boundaries that would permit 26 fifth graders in the Alisal-Jensen area to attend Harvest Park as sixth graders, rather than Pleasanton School.

Trustees also took their first look at a study budget for 1977-78, advertised for bids for revisions to an existing steam condensate system at Fairlands School and viewed an Alisal School curriculum report.

DMV jam session

There's not much elbow room in the Department of Motor Vehicles office these days. Located in the same Livermore building since it stopped the system of traveling crews coming to the Valley once a week, the local DMV office now handles more than 100,000 people in Livermore, Pleasonton, Dublin and San Ramon. A search has been underway since 1970 to find a suitable site for a larger building in a more central Valley location. In the 2-5 year expected interim, double sided office trailers have been ordered to house the driver license service. The present facility would handle vehicle registrations.

Why permit is tougher on Factory

PLEASANTON — The Cheese Factory was granted a five year sewer discharge permit by the city council Monday night amid questions about whether another large discharger is being given preferential treatment.

Council Member Ken Mercer took one look at the Cheese Factory permit, compared it to one issued in 1966 to Kaiser Research Center, and couldn't understand the apparent discrepencies.

Kaiser is allowed a wider deviation in the acid balance of its effluent, does not have to pay a monthly monitoring charge, and has its fee computed from one sample taken annually. The Cheese Factory's monthly charge will be based on accurately monitored flows each month and the firm will pay for the monitoring.

Mercer was not satisfied with Acting City Manager Alan Campbell's answers Monday night and expects a full written report on the subject in a couple of weeks.

The answer, Campbell told The Times yesterday, is that the two industries are different. Kaiser Research Center basically complies with the ordinance; it is no different from a home's sewer discharge because of the level of pre - treatment at Kaiser is so thorough. The only exception is the acid content of the effluent and that's why the sewer permit says it can be in the 6 to 9 per cent Ph acid factor range, said Campbell.

It's tougher for The Cheese Factory to meet the standards, said Campbell. That's why exceptions are written into the sewer discharge permit. In fact, that's why sewer discharge permits exist in the first place — to show how a discharger is deviating from normal effluent discharges.

Answering Mercers's questions point by point, Capbell said that The Cheese Factory has a little narrower range — 7.5 to 9 per cent — range for acid content, but that is no big deal. The real focus is on the charge for monitoring.

Kaiser doesn't need monthly monitoring, The Cheese Factory does, said Campbell. It's appropriate to charge The Cheese Factory for the monitoring; most cities do, said the acting city manager. But the city council can change that, if it wishes, he said.

Santa Rita riot
Sheriff hit on PR

Sheriff Tom Houchins could have done a better public relations job in handling a recent riot in the women's quarters at Santa Rita Prison, Supervisor Charles Santana said Tuesday.

The riot occurred Feb. 6 and 53 women, a majority of the women's area normal population, were put in custody in previously all - male Greystone maximum security area.

Word of the incident leaked out a few days later and concerned citizens began to wonder what was going on. Supervisors Valerie Raymond and Charles Santana sent a memo to Houchins asking to visit the women. They rescinded it when they learned the grand jury will investigate the incident and allegedly poor conditions there.

Houchins told Santana at the supervisors' meeting Tuesday that he didn't think the disturbance was any different from any other altercation at the prison and didn't see any reason to notify the press.

"It was the first time in history that you put women in Greystone," said Santana, who, as a bailbondsman, has some acquaintance with Santa Rita. "You would do better if you didn't try to put this in a closet."

Houchins discussed complaints about the women's section point by point. Baseball games were not discontinued, contrary to women's complaints. The one on Feb. 5 was cancelled, but there was a "severe shortage of staff that day" and no authorization for staff overtime.

A diabetic complained about not getting medication; supposedly deputies did not follow doctor's orders. There was only one diabetic there at the time and she has not been picking up her medicine in accordance with doctor's orders, said Houchins.

"Deputies don't show enough respect," said one allegation. "There were no specifics," said Houchins.

"My orders are that all deputies shall be courteous." There are times in the line of duty when they must be firm, he added.

Women who were moved to Greystone get use of their own day exercise room, just as the men do, said the sheriff. "They have never been subjected to this type of security before and it's a shock to them," said Houchins.

"It's basically the non - conformists who are put in maximum security; in the past there was no place to put women who made trouble, but now there is, said Houchins.

If you think things sometimes go wrong for you, you'll feel better after laughing at "The Born Loser" each morning in The Times comics.

Rent subsidies

"If the owner is interested in participating, the family and owner fill out forms for us," said Levy. "We inspect the units to see if they fit our housing quality standards and determine if the rent is proper."

"Then we sign a contract with the owner, securing our portion of the rent," he added. "The tenants sign a regular lease, securing their portion of the rent."

Special provisions are also made for utility allowances, he noted.

People unable to make the April 27 date may call the county housing authority the first morning of any month to make an appointment at the Hayward office (538-8876), located at 29800 Mission Blvd. Interested property owners can call anytime.

So far, interest in Section 8 housing has been limited in the Pleasanton, Livermore and Dublin areas, according to county officials. Applications total 43 in the past year. Only 10 families now take part in the program.

South County Community College race

Two bidding for Chabot trustee vacancy

(This is the last in a series on candidates running for the various school boards. Candidates in each district have been asked to respond to four questions. Today's article features the two candidates seeking election to the South County Community College District Board of Trustees)

Although Margaret "Peg" Wiedman and Orville Johnson seek to represent the San Leandro area on the South County Community College District board, all voters in the district will ballot come Tuesday, including those here in the Valley.

Charles Matzen presently represents the San Leandro area on the board but he has decided not to seek a full term. Matzen was appointed when veteran trustee Charles Stone died last year.

There are actually two other incumbents whose terms are up this month but both are seeking reelection unopposed.

The one seat being contested, then, could be of crucial concern to Valley residents as Chabot College - Valley Campus is at a critical growth stage.

Peg Wiedman

The present master plan for the district runs through 1982 and shows several major structures being built at Valley Campus. But master plans are subject to financial conditions and the considered opinions of board members.

Construction now underway, however, will not only expand Valley Campus for continued enrollment growth but provide housing for a more diverse curriculum, particularly in the social science and vocational fields.

Both Johnson and Mrs. Wiedman have been close to South County district board and planning committee matters, particularly in the early years of the district.

Both evidence considerable knowledge of not only district physical facilities but staff and curriculum.

Mrs. Wiedman and her husband, Dr. Gerald P. Wiedman, have five grown children.

She graduated from Adelphi University in New York with a B.S. degree and attended Chabot in the early '70s. Mrs. Wiedman went on to the University of California from 1971-74 and graduated with a B.A. in anthropology and religious studies. She was a graduate student in U.S. history last year.

Her community service activities with young people date back to 1954 when she was a member and president of the Castro Valley Nursery School.

Mrs. Wiedman was a member of the community group to establish the South County district in 1961-62. In 1964-65, she was part of a group for a Chabot College site in San Leandro. The outcome of this activity was the purcase of a site above Lake Chabot by the board. In 1974-75 she was a member of the San Leandro Chabot community complex committee.

She sees the most immediate problem facing the district as increasing vocational - technical courses in the San Leandro - Hayward area and meeting expansion needs of the Valley Campus.

Like Johnson, shes sees the district as having no dire problems.

"A good atmosphere has been created by Dr. (Reed) Buffington and his staff." Buffington has been the one and only president the college has had since its inception in the early '60s.

Asked how much autonomy the Valley Campus should have, Mrs. Wiedman said that could only be determined on a dollars and cents basis.

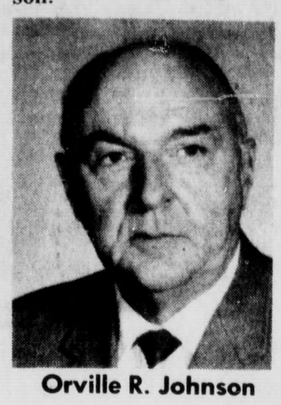
She sees the community college as a "center" for the community, in this case the Livermore - Amador Valley.

Both Mrs. Wiedman and Johnson believe a third or San Leandro campus is pretty much a dead issue—since students in the San Leandro and San Lorenzo area are only minutes away from the Hayward campus by freeway or public transportation.

Johnson evidenced considerable awareness of a need for more facilities at the Valley Campus. "I think it must be doubled in size. I agree with the pay as you go basis and feel rapid development of the Livermore campus will relieve the pressure on the Hayward campus."

Johnson added he felt that was the present board's thinking as well.

"I've noticed there's been a continual growth in the vocational area. Emphasis in the Valley will be in the technical and vocational areas to serve the radiation laboratory and agriculture," opined Johnson.



Orville R. Johnson

He believes the district is in "pretty good shape" at present and says the "present board and administration are as efficient as you could ask for."

Johnson, like Mrs. Wiedman, was on the committee to explore branch campus sites in San Leandro.

He believes that buildings being constructed now at Valley Campus "will be filled the day construction barriers go down.

Though he does not like the present "ward system," he feels it does make board members more responsive to the total district.

Johnson was born and raised in Spokane, Wash. He is a consultant in the food packaging field and has a son who is a community college instructor in Ramapo, N.J.

Livermore trustee race

Barbara Stear

Livermore school board candidate Barbara Stear criticized candidate Jan Brice's acceptance of a campaign contribution from the Livermore Education Association in a recent news release.

Stear said: "It seems against the best interest of the taxpayer at large for any board candidate to be beholden to any special interest group by the acceptance of financial support, especially when that interest group is employed by the governing body of the schools, the school board.

"A school trustee is in fact an employer spending tax dollars and must remain free of the dictates of labor groups. His responsibility is to provide the best education possible by hiring the most dedicated qualified people available to accomplish this task.

"I as a candidate have purposely rejected all offers of financial support to remain free of special interest obligations, free to be objective and free to serve the interests of the entire public.

"When other candidates have spent hundreds and thousands of dollars on this campaign, my expenditures total less than $50 to date. A "Livermore, Madison Avenue" approach to school board campaigning is not my style.

"My dedication is to the children of this school district and toward proviging them with the best quality of education that our limited tax dollars can afford. Only as a free agent, accountable to the taxpayers, can I do this."

Jim Davis

Jim Davis, Livermore school board incumbent, was recently asked for his views on the trend in education. He stated, according to a campaign news release, "Education is moving in the direction of providing marketable skills and better preparing students in the basics of education."

Davis went on to say, "More emphasis must be given to laying a firm foundation from which students can better develop meaningful and useable skills. Basics in education are essential in order for students to achieve a sound, healthy outlook and to compete in the job market."

Davis emphasized that "basics" include more than just the ability to read, write and compute. "In today's society, basics also include the ability to communicate and relate effectively with others."

He said education must not be "channeled" or "stereotyped."

"We must educate the whole person and help each student realize his or her own unique talents and abilities. Schools and homes must work together in a partnership type of arrangement if we are to get the most out of education. To do this, parents and teachers must work closely together to create a healthy learning environment.

Davis continued, "More emphasis should be given to providing students opportunities, particularly at the secondary level, to explore vocational options." He pointed to the Regional Occupational Program as an example of one that vocational options can be developed.

Davis also said he believes more emphasis should be given toward helping students diagnose areas of vocational and professional interest. "This," he said, "would enable students to make education more relevant and personal."

Davis concluded the meeting by stating, "Whatever the occupation desired by the student, housewife, nurse, mechanic, engineer or whatever, the schools must help students to realize that education is an ever - continuing process."

Gail Sidhu

Gail Sidhu, candidate for the two - year seat on the Livermore school board, discussed junior highs in a recent campaign statement.

"The junior high schools are the stepchildren of our district," she said.

"We must take responsibility for education our 12, 13 and 14 - year - olds. While attention is being given to early childhood programs in the elementary schools and attention is being paid to alternative programs on the high school level — little is being done to improve the quality of education in our intermediate schools."

If elected, Gail promised at a recent coffee gathering, "I will investigate the possibilities for improving education at this level as well."

Jack Thornton

Livermore school board candidate Jack Thornton will meet the public at a coffee Monday, March 7, at the home of Kern Carrington, 778 Caliente Ave.

Dr. James McFarlane

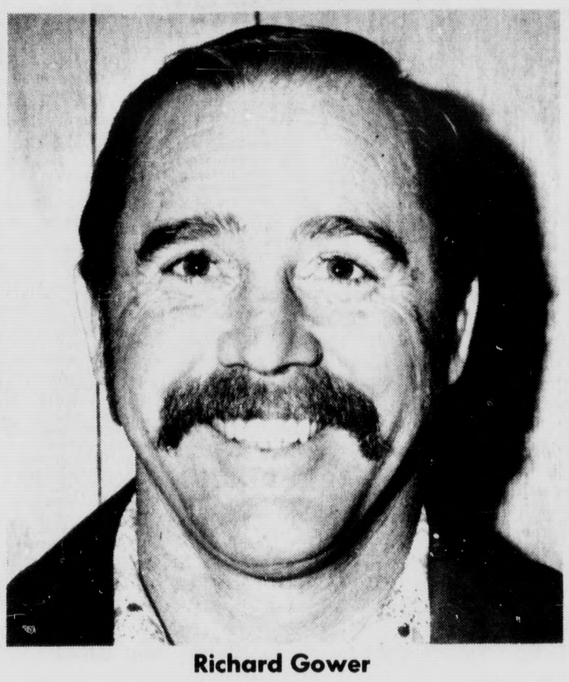
Sterling Macfarlane, former Livermore Unified School District personnel director, who contemplated running for school board this spring, has endorsed incumbent Dr. James McFarlane.

In a press release, Macfarlane said: "Dr. James McFarlane is one school board member that realizes his responsibilities for ALL PHASES of education: finance, school organization, curriculum, teachers, classified employes, legislature, employe negotiations, student unrest, taxes, inflation, deflation, business, extracurricular activities and all the rest of the problems that keep marching down the table in the board room. With all these problems Dr. McFarlane keeps reminding himself that the REAL objective of a board member is to assure the public of the development of the INDIVIDUAL STUDENT. It is building men and women — the citizens of tomorrow.

"No one on the school board or running for one of the seats on the board of education is more knowledgeable of the broad scope involved in the role of a board member serving as a public servant than Dr. McFarlane.

"Being a school board member is not an easy task, especially if one keeps in mind the ever - changing issues in education today. Sure, it is easy for a board member to look at a few isolated areas such as finance, curriculum, alternative education, special education, personnel, building program, salaries or fringe benefits, pick out one or two and maintain that he/she is really going to make some changes.

"Maybe some will understand better about school boards if we remember a moment how they came about. School boards are an American institution, native to the United States and Canada and almost nowhere else."



Richard Gower

Livermore candidate

Fireman seeks office

"I tell people the truth," says Richard Gower, "and they hate to hear it."

Gower is seeking election to the Livermore Unified School District Board of Trustees next Tuesday.

He's a plain - spoken, practical - minded fireman who works in Oakland and represents "the working people, not the professionals."

"Who," he demands, "represents the people in the community who work for a living? The people who really feel it when taxes go up? The little guy?"

At the same time, Gower brings some impressive political experience to his candidacy. He's been a negotiator for his 800 - member firefighters' union in Oakland; served on the Alameda County Central Labor Council and served as a representative to COPE — the Congress of Political Education.

He also managed the successful city council campaign staged by Dale Turner in 1972. In an attempt to bolster Turner's influence on the council, Gower himself ran last year but lost.

Gower appears to resent the implication that he may be using the school board as a stepping - stone to a city council seat. Instead, he points to his supervisory position in the fire department (as a lieutenant, he is responsible for evaluation and progress reports in his division); his labor experience; his thorough research on the district; and his personal involvement with the school system through his children, eight - year - old Steven and five - year - old Christine.

"If anything," he smiles, "I'm better qualified as a school board candidate than I was to run for city council."

Gower is running a low - budget campaign he directs himself. He received a big boost last week when Granada High civics students chose him as their favorite candidate and, in many cases, offered to campaign for him.

"That's the highest compliment I can receive," he says, "that the students want to work for me. Their input is of prime importance. The job of a school board member directly affects the students."

Gower disagrees with candidates who feel teachers should tailor their daily routine to each parent's individual wishes.

"Parent input is important," he says, "but not when it interferes with classroom - level instruction.

"Parent involvement is great when they're talking about concepts — such as open space (which is a misconception) versus traditional. With volunteering, it's vital. But they should specify the volunteers' scope so they don't supersede the teacher's ability to teach the course."

He adds, "Teachers are the ones who have to take the program and work with it. They have to evaluate it and meet its goals. They're more aware of the inherent problems, inadequacies and value than parents are.

"We have well informed people in Livermore, and that's an asset. But quite often the educated people think they know more than the teacher. To fix the primary responsibility on the parent is ludicrous."

A teacher of fire science at Chabot College, Gower is "a strong believer in student evaluation of teachers, especially at the high - school level." The unsigned comment sheets would go from students to the teacher strictly for the teacher's self - evaluation.

Gower would also like to see evaluation of teachers by other teachers and evaluation of administrators by teachers rather than the simple system now in use of each supervisor evaluating his underlings.

Straw vote tally

LIVERMORE — School board candidates Richard Gower, Jan Brice and Gail Sidhu came out on top in a straw poll taken last week at Granada High School.

The mock election was sponsored by the school's Junior State, a club made up of students interested in government. They invited all eight candidates to speak to civics classes and then polled the 170 students who had had the opportunity to meet the candidates.

Complete results were:

For the three four - year seats:

Richard Gower, 89 per cent of the total vote, Jan Brice, 63 per cent, Manuel Prado, 14 per cent, James Davis, 10 per cent, James McFarlane, 6 per cent.

For the one available two - year seat:

Gail Sidhu, 62 per cent, Jack Thornton,21 per cent, Barbara Stear, 17 per cent.

Some students will be working for one of the candidates who has won their support. According to students Chrysanne Lagiss and Katherine Arrieta, "Granada students are becoming increasingly active in this year's school board election and they hope that the citizens of Livermore will also become active and vote for the candidates of their choice on Tuesday, March 8."

Chabot seeks dental cases

Chabot College's dental hygiene students are looking for older patients with advanced cases of dental disease.

These patients are those whose teeth represent the last stages of dental disease.

"Typically, we're looking for patients who have neglected their teeth for the past 20 years," Mrs. Marilyn Rhodes, dental hygiene instructor, said.

For further information, telephone 782-3000, ext. 431.

Third World talk at Amador

PLEASANTON — What should the United States' position be as regards third world countries?

The social and economic aspects of this country's relationship with emerging nations, such as those on the African continent and South America, were brought into play here last week by Sister Roberta Marie Williams, chairwoman of the political science department at Holy Names College in Oakland.

She spoke to classes of Robert Holland at Amador Valley High School.

Sister Roberta Marie is perhaps one of the few Americans to learn of former dictator Salvador Allende's prospective motives before he took power in Chile. She was on a Fulbright Scholarship, traveling in South America, when she met the then Senator Allende in 1967.

She said that Allende, who subsequently was killed following a coup, bid her to ask a question. Allende allegedly confided that one of the first things he would do if he became chief of state would be to nationalize the banks.

Sister Roberta Marie, speaking on the church's role in presentday society, said "the church's stand is that artificial population control is not a tenable thing."

She added that though the hierarchy of the church may say this, the great mass of people do not necessarily follow this.

She claimed the United States had used economics, "our resources," as a political weapon. "But it seems that third world countries are playing both sides of the coin with us. They want our technology but they don't necessarily want to accept any of our ideologies."

Using the hypothesis of everybody getting their "share of the pie," Sister Roberta Marie said "nobody"s really considered it but maybe we could enlarge the pie."

A student asked who decides, or who should decide, if we enlarge the pie, and who gets help. "You're asking the key political question," responded Sister Roberta Marie. "Do you leave it up to one body or do you have dialogue with all those concerned with the 'pie'?"

"Those who operate on the assumption that the 'pie' is limited may be operating on an equally invalid point as those who suppose it's bigger," she added.

"I think we have to see religion as it was conceived," she concluded, "and developed by the late renaissance mentality."

Her appearance was made possible by Holy Names College and teacher Bob Holland at Amador Valley High School.

Overturn Serrano

School funding amendment

A constitutional amendment to overturn the state Supreme Court's ruling on school financing, the Serrano decision, was introduced Monday by state Senator Dennis E. Carpenter.

"The Serrano decision potentially could cost the State's taxpayers more than $1 billion and reduce our consideration of education to a simple matter of dollars. Yet, my proposal to refer the issue to the voters is the first in the Legislature," Carpenter declared.

"If implemented, the Serrano decision will set California education back 100 years," said Carpenter. "Educators have worked for decades to identify the various things that go into successfully teaching kids how to read, write and do arithmetic. Now, stampeded by the state Supreme Court, the governor and some people appear ready to throw all this out the window and proclaim money as the sole answer. Well, it isn't."

Essentially, the state court found that the existing system of school finance, because it was based substantially upon local property taxes, gives some school districts a greater amount of revenue to spend per pupil. This the court said, violated the equal protection clause of the State Constitution which requires that all citizens (in this case pupils), be treated equally.

Carpenter's measure would nullify the court's decision by rewriting the State Constitution to clearly permit a school finance system based on local finance and control, but requiring the state to insure the minimum level of financing necessary for a basic education. If successful, it would appear on the June 1978 ballot.

"It is important to note that with Serrano no one is proposing the elimination of the property tax for school purposes," Carpenter said. "Additionaliy, what is being proposed would forever deny local voters the right to decide to increase their support of their schools," Carpenter said.

Students' ceramic contest

Bena's Ceramics, Inc., of Dublin and Fremont will be sponsoring a ceramic show and contest on April 22, 23, and 24 at the company's Dublin store.

Called "Clay Madness," the competition is open to all Bay Area high school ceramic students. Over 200 high schools will be invited to participate. Each high school ceramic instructor will select five pieces to represent his school. Over $1,000 in merchandise will be awarded to students and schools as prizes.

Robert Brent, of Robert Brent Corporation, will judge the competition. Entry deadline is April 11. Students or teachers desiring more detailed information should contact Nadine Lbe of Bena's Ceramics, 7042 Village Parkway, Dublin.

Sprucing up

In keeping with the Arbor Day (March 7) theme of tree planting, Joe Martin of Sunol Nursery contributed a Monterey Pine and a Deodora Cedar to Foothill High School in Pleasanton. Joan Mackay, principal of Foothill, was on hand to receive the trees, along with four bags of organic compost from Jack LaBelle, a Vita Bark representative. The high school is in great need of more trees to landscape the grounds. Anyone wishing to make a donation in recognition of Conservation Week March 7 to 14, may call the school at 462-1615.

Music week in schools

March 6-12 has been designated by the Music Educators National Conference as the national Music in Our Schools Week.

The San Ramon Valley Chamber of Commerce has affirmed the proclamation and stated "the week offers an opportunity for the community to gain a better understanding of the processes of music education."

The Murray and Amador school districts will present their annual choral and instrumental music concert Tuesday, March 8 at Dublin High School as a feature of the week.

Club of the week

'Growth and service'

Although Quintin Ramil was once turned away from practicing law in California because of racial discrimination, the naturalized American chose not to return to the Philippines. A Livermore resident since 1962, Mr. Ramil has lived in the state over 21 years and raised his seven children here.

The active president of the American Association of Retired Persons, Mr. Ramil is serving his second term in that office. Not one to retire quietly, he has put his 20 years of experience as a chief petty officer with the United States Navy to good use in keeping the A.A.R.P.'s membership thriving — there are over 100 members — and busy.

Composed of men and women over 55 years of age, the A.A.R.P. members work together learning ways to stretch their purchasing power on retirement incomes, providing transportation to shut-ins and maintaining their image of aging as one of growth and service.

Mr. Ramil, a long-time sales representative for the local Surety Life Insurance Company, proudly states that his third son Mario is now deputy attorney general of Hawaii — and has passed California's bar exam. Another son has followed in his father's footsteps by joining the Navy, while yet another is a soccer star at the University of California at Berkeley.

The A.A.R.P. Livermore-Amador Valley chapter meets every second Friday of the month at the Recreation Building in Livermore at 1 p.m.

QUINTIN RAMIL

V.F.W.

Karen Wilson will narrate a slide program on her recent travels among the ancient ruins and other interesting spots in Peru at the March 9 meeting of the Livermore Valley V.F.W. Auxiliary.

Karen is president of the Livermore - Amador Valley Toastmistress Club. An 8 p.m. business meeting will precede the program. Refreshment chairman is Susan Chancy.

Spokesmen

A leisurely and easy grade bike ride from Shannon Center in Dublin to PeeWee Golf in Pleasanton is planned by the Valley Spokesmen Saturday, March 5 beginning at 10:30 a.m. A picnic lunch is suggested, and leaders Steve and Barbara Wilcox will supply further information at 846-8735.

The 45-mile tour through Palomares and Norris canyons is judged "moderate" by Stan Deller (935-0986) who will lead a group Sunday, March 6 from Shannon Center at 10 a.m. Bring a lunch or money to buy.

Join Bonnie Powers Wednesday, March 9 to discover if the Lafayette Reservoir really has an alligator living in its waters. Bike tour starts at 10 a.m. at the Alpha Beta rear parking lot in Danville. Bring a picnic lunch for the easy grade leisurely tour.

Toastmasters

Award for the best speaker at the Microcentury Toastmasters Speech Contest last month went to Dino Ciarlo whose topic was "Competition."

Harold Pfeifer captured second place, while Gurnan Sidhu took a "third." Evaluator prize went to Cecilia Larsen. Toastmaster for the evening was Ed Bettencourt, and Jerry Wilverding was time-keeper. Judges were Robert Barlett, Run Gunn and Howard Whelan.

The LLLRA Microcentury Toastmasters Club convenes each Tuesday at noon at Lawrence Livermore Laboratory's Building 151. For information contact Bob Haight at LLL Extension 8944.

Wasteland II

This is the week when Americans were urged to "turn off your television in protest to the crime shows that now fill our living rooms."

That is a noble crusade, but one which could save us from crime, only to dump us into yet another wasteland, one equally damaging to the nation's senses.

Crime shows offend some people; girlie shows offend others. We are all gravely wounded by the outpouring of low - grade "entertainment" which fills our homes and occupies our minds ... and that will only get worse if "Kojak" is to be replaced with another "$25,000 Pyramid."

There are those determined to remove this or that show, book or movie from the American reach; there are far too few prepared to work for quality entertainment, culture, instruction.

Television offers the single most exciting addition to communications since the discovery of type. That the tube has fallen far short of its promise, particularly in this country, is one of the 20th century's great failures.

We will not turn television around simply by telling the commercially - bound program producers what they may NOT give us. We will not do it by shutting off all tv sets for one week.

We could start by searching out ways to encourage and financially support quality tv programs and quality tv stations. In our Bay Area, Channel 9 has the potential for such startling change, but here again, the product is limited by the lack of funding, by confused governmental policy, and most of all by indifferent public interest.

TV does an excellent job with sports because fans demand nothing less than perfection, and sponsors will pay for what millions of Americans want. TV handles most other subjects sloppily because our own standards are sloppy, vague, ill defined.

A generation of adults that lost Saturday Evening Post, Life and Look magazines, only to gain Playboy, Hustler and Penthouse, is hardly the generation that can now pass judgement on "Police Story" or re - runs of the James Bond 007 movies.

Our nation, our entertainment, even our newstands are as good as we make them. Getting crime shows off the tube is not the answer. Getting ingelligent communication into the American home is.

Teachers, politics

Teachers are involving themselves in local elections for school board posts to an extent never before observed in these several communities. That activity is but one more expression of the "new militancy" of those educators who — from the state capital to the local scene — are no longer content to be treated as "public servants who should be grateful for their job."

Such activity is clearly within the rights of teachers, who do not forego their citizenship simply because they are on the public payroll. Neither do they yield their right to campaign, to go door - to - door on behalf of a favored school board candidate, or to give cash to support that candidacy.

One newspaper in the Valley expresses shock at such behavior. It suggests that candidates who accept such teacher support, or teacher union support, should be disqualified from seeking that office.

Such a notion is childish, archaic, and in violation of the constitutional rights of the candidate and the teachers who offer such support. It is the responsibility of all citizens to involve themselves in our political processes. It is also our privilege to reject any candidate by virtue of his or her platform, or that candidate's supporters. We call this "democracy."

Teachers who live here, vote here, are a tiny percentage of any local jurisdiction's voting power. If educators are tilting the political balance in their own favor, it is only because too many other good citizens are taking no part whatsoever in the system.

It also suggests that school trustees, superintendents and even principals are losing touch with the people who work under them. History teaches that the organization of labor, at whatever level, usually begins only after "employer - employe relations" have first broken down.

FOCUS/School boards

Crucial hours

The immediate hours and days ahead will be crucial ones for Valley school districts, especially the Amador Valley Joint High School District.

In addition to the final days of campaigning by some three dozen school board aspirants in Livermore, Pleasanton, Murray, San Ramon and Amador, the latter faces a critical negotiations session.

That meeting, presumably face - to - face, is tentatively scheduled for this evening and hopefully will last until some kind of accord is reached on the key issues separating the sides. Also hopefully, the meeting will not disintegrate into passing of notes by the parties located in separate rooms.

One prerequisite for tonight's meeting is the presence of a majority of the Amador Valley district board. There are five members of that board— President Wally Decker, Dr. Geraldine Donaldson, Charles Beazley, Jack Delaney and Wayne Barnes. We believe that anything less than a majority present during any session at this critical hour will be tantamount to dereliction of duty. And should be dealt with by the public at the polls this Tuesday or by special recourse available to the electorate in the months to come.

In the past week the Amador district has seen fit to hire security guards (from Fox Security in Fremont) to maintain a 24-hour surveillance on three district campuses, from 4 p.m. last Friday to 8 a.m. this past Monday.

The district indicates this was done largely in reaction to the strike vote taken by teachers last week. There is a very strong implication here that strike votes lead to disorderly conduct of one sort or another.

While industrial plants and docks across this country have been the scene of strike rioting, tire slashing, window breaking and brawling episodes, I hardly think that the 200-plus teachers of the Amador district, or their backers, would resort to this— and I'm certain teachers as well as classified personnel resent the implication.

Another item, the Amador board has been meeting in extraordinary early morning sessions in recent days, presumably to discuss not only courses of action in case of a walkout but ways to get negotiations back on the track.

Our suspicious mind would be relieved if the district would tell us that no decisions were made during these explicitly "executive" sessions— such as the decision to hire the security guards at approximately $1,000 per weekend.

We know the board would judiciously want to stay within the letter of the law by informing the public (via the news media) of all board meetings (including the early morning sessions) at least 24 hours in advance.

And lastly, The Times will be announcing candidate endorsements in its Sunday issue. We have never taken this lightly and devote many hours of consideration beyond the hours required in reading and typing candidate releases and attendance at candidate forums.

The candidates in all the districts— Livermore, Murray, Pleasanton, San Ramon, Chabot and Amador— are quite impressive. It has been a difficult choice.

The non candidate

The school board candidate hadn't bothered to shave or put on a tie, and his curly black hair dangled below his T - shirt neck.

He was half an hour late for his interview. "I'll skip the chat with your editor," he told me, sitting on my pocketbook (which happened to be on the interview chair) with a crunch.

"When you people hear what I stand for, you'll fall all over yourselves to endorse me, anyway."

TIME FOR A CHANGE is the campaign slogan for Ivan D. Troot, billing himself as "Livermore's first real alternative candidate." A brand - new resident in the Valley, he has never been in any of the schools, hates kids and thinks the $11 million building program is "a lot of money going down the tubes for some really ugly - looking buildings."

Troot observed that he's getting tired of hearing all the candidates, right - wing or liberal, young or old, saying the same old things that nobody could disagree with. "Sometimes I suspect," he whispered, "the guys all chip in for one white shirt and take turns wearing it for pictures."

To give the people a real choice, Troot has come up with an "alternative platform" that features:

- Less for your tax dollar. "What do people think they can get for a buck in this day and age?" he demands angrily.
- Getting away from the basics. "With telephones and pocket calculators, I can't remember the last time I had to read or do math."
- Lowering standards. "Childhood is for playing, not sitting around at a desk."
- Giving the teachers what they want. "Those poor slobs have been around long enough to deserve something besides a kick in the — oops, sorry," he declares. "I know I'm going way out on a limb here, but when those $30,000 - a - year engineers think teachers have a good deal...They're just jealous of the vacations. Which brings us to another point.
- Year - round schools. "The heck with what the people think they want. When they see those teachers sweating in August it will cleanse their kharmas."
- Shut off communication between the schools and the community. "What is this 'community' business anyway? The schools ARE the community. The community IS the schools.

"Hey, I like that."

- Get rid of all discriminatory activities, no matter how traditional. "So what if we have ALWAYS (and that means for the last eight years, because there was no Livermore Unified School District before that) had a father - son night? Is it worth rubbing the noses of kids in it who don't have a father?"

Troot picked a piece of loose rubber off his battered tennis sneaker. "And another thing about my being an alternative candidate," he said.

"Sometimes, I even make sense."

round the town

"I contributed to a political campaign in 1976. Can I write that off now as a bad investment?

It is that time of year again. Americans pouring through their check stubs. Americans filling out 1040 long or 1040 short. We are also filled with questions.

"I am a single person living alone, more or less. Can I file as 'head of household' with fluctuating deductions?"

Somewhere it is written that the mean of American intelligence is between the fifth and eighth grades. But the Internal Revenue Service believes we are all Philadelphia lawyers. Or else they are dedicated to the proliferation of tax accountants. IRS - to - H. & R. Block ... a great double play.

Fortunately, the tax people have provided this newspaper with "Timely Tax Tips for Your Readers." They are interesting, they are even amusing. But they aren't one damned bit of help.

"Early filers get faster tax refunds" ... "Both spouses must sign a joint income tax return" ... "Remember to affix postage to your envelope when mailing your income tax return." That sort of nonsense.

The IRS also asks itself questions, to which they supply stupid answers. It is like two crazy people discussing nuclear arms control.

"I'm a married student college student who earned $4000 in 1976. Do I have to file Federal and State income tax returns?" That is the way IRS sees the problem. But anyone who ever sent a progeny through the upper echelons of learning knows that is NOT the way progeny puts question...

"Dadeeo can you help me figure this out? I know I earned $300 (or was it $500?) last summer at the County Fair and then I got that funky job with the park department ... you loaned me $200 (but then later you promised it would be a gift against my next birthday) and I paid tuition two months because you were mad about those repairs to the car ... Well anyhow, do you think you and Mother could just take all this information and sort of figure out my income tax?" (P.S. — if I still owe them anything I'm really busted this month so do you suppose you could ...")

The people in Washington and Sacramento do not understand college students; they most certainly do not comprehend college - level finances. There is only the slightest hint that they have a clue as to what life is all about...

"I'm one of three persons who share an apartment. Are we each eligible for the State renter's credit?" The bureaucratic answer is a simplified "Yes." But a more honest exchange would go something like this ...

"Me and this chick and this other dood, we got this pad, you know man? ... And we been divying up the overhead, sort of like. Now the dood split with the chick but left me with the landlord, know what I mean? In the interim, as they say, the landlord's ex makes the scene and wants a part of the action ... Now my question is, should I or shouldn't I, and what's the total tab?"

All of which is much too close to real life for the funny little people who impose, collect and audit our taxes. They know not of life. They speak only to computers, short and long form.

"Want to get your income tax refund faster? Take a few minutes to check your return and your arithmetic." It is that kind of advice which makes Americans lose faith in their government. The IRS crew's only concern is get us to file early, clean their desks by Thursday noon and get off for the long Federal weekend.

This year the form 1050, long or short, is more complicated than ever. Honest taxpaying citizens have been known to slash their wrists before they reach the second page, or the 200th question. Marriage counselors are gearing up for an April boom in marital rifts. The Golden Gate Bridge expects a windfall in new business, if you know what I mean.

"My only income in 1976 was $3000 in unemployment payments, but I also picked up $18,000 from my old fireman's pension and $42,500 from my stock portfolio. My question is, should I list food stamps as a capital gain?"

The mold of the typical American taxpayer is changing. Uncle Samuel changes along with us. For those who can afford to pay no taxes at all, President Jim proposes to send them a refund anyway ... make them believe they are still part of the good old USA — IRS.

"I am a typical, suburban, middle income wage earner, large mortgage, 3.2 white children, lovely wife (who ran off with my accountant just in time to give him the deduction), and now the State and Federal governments want 40 percent of the money I never had in the first place. My question is — Do I qualify as a hardship case?"

Answer — "Don't forget to put a stamp on the envelope when you mail in your check, dumb-dumb."

EARL WATERS

Judge Rose Bird

Reaction to Governor Jerry Brown's nomination of Rose Elizabeth Bird to be Chief Justice of the State Supreme Court has divided into two groups, and centered attention on her limited legal experience and complete lack of it as a judge. This has served to obscure the fact that the duties of Chief Justice, unlike those of the other six justices, are far more than that of ruling on law.

The constitution provides that the Chief Justice shall also serve as chairman of the Judicial Council which is the chief administrative body of the state's court system. It is responsible for adopting rules and overseeing the practice and procedures of all courts. The chairman is personally responsible for equalizing the workload of courts throughout the state and empowered to assign judges from one court to another.

Additionally, the council compiles annual statistical reports to aid in expediting judicial business. It is heavily involved in making recommendations to the Legislature for reorganizations and other improvements of the court system.

It is presently engaged in two studies, one of calendar management in the courts and the other as to criminal sentencing practices. At the same time it is running several pilot projects on trial procedures and small claims processing.

The chairman, meaning the chief justice, directs the council's staff whose numbers are proposed to be increased by 25 positions in the upcoming budget. Since all of the juicial council positions are exempt from civil service it gives him a tremendous amount of patronage. The total budget presided over by the chairman amounts to more than $4 million annually.

So the complaints the Bird's experience is wanting as a justice, shouted down by the charges of male chauvanism by her supporters, should not serve to divert scrutiny as to her administrative qualifications.

Not that there isn't merit to the criticism of lack of judicial experience. But the mere absence of it does not nor should it bar one from sitting as a justice. Former Chief Justice Phil S. Gibson was appointed an associate justice without previously serving as a judge. Earl Warren became Chief Justice of the United States with no judicial experience. So too did John Marshall, the nation's fourth Chief Justice who served more than 30 years in the post.

But each of those and others who have been appointed to the highest judicial posts without other court experience did have broad experience in the practice of law and solid backgrounds in government to compensate for any lack of wisdom which might have been gained by sitting as a judge. And they had a mature wisdom which comes with age.

Bird, at 40, is probably short a few years in acquiring the wisdom of age. She has no judicial experience. And, despite the claims made in the governor's press announcement of her selection of "extensive legal and court experience" the bare facts are that her legal experience was limited to seven years as a deputy public defender handling cases often assigned to lawyers newly admitted to practice.

These shortcomings have nothing to do with her being a woman. There are any number of women judges in the state who could have been named whose qualifications would have gone unquestioned.

The point here however is that just having judicial qualifications may not be enough because of the heavy administrative duties. Even in this area, although she served two years as Secretary of Agriculture and Services, she appears lacking. Insiders claim she couldn't make decisions. They also say she was abrasive, arrogant and had great difficulty getting along with those she directed, tolerating no disagreement. It is said her failure to permit Agriculture Director Tim Wallace to run his department caused his resignation. The confirmation process should look hard at this aspect of Bird's qualities.

Letters to the Times

His view on porno

Editor, The Times:

To the mother of 4, who signs herself "Mr. Michael Wahlig." whoever you are, please clarify what happened to the "porno" movies produced in S.F. by and for degenerates? These films are being shown all over the Bay Area or do you know something I don't, if so please enlighten me.

No one is forced to see an X rated movie or a suggestive T.V. show. No one is pressured into buying Hustler or any other trashy magazine. That option is up to the individual.

By whose criteria can anyone remotely justify to stifle amoral feelings in another human being? I would resent the intrusion in my personal life that is my priviledge and right as is freedom of speech, freedom of the press and of religious belief. Who are you to deny me any of these in our democratic system?

T.V. and films are a minute part of family togetherness. There are countless other activities that bind a family together.

I can't imagine a teenager at a drive in movie with his mother and father! I'm sure he would rather be with his peers!

Father of 4 healthy adults, and grandfather of 5 perfectly adorable grandchildren.

Dublin traffic hazard

To: Alameda County Board of Supervisors:

After reading an article in the Valley Times, Feb. 24 pg. 2 (No Change For Stop Lights For Conversion Student) I feel compelled to write.

Do you realize how the children of Frederiksen School feel? They love their school, and then to be uprooted without a warning! Well the parents are trying to cope with the conversion ... trying to explain to their children why they can no longer have Frederiksen.

It is just too much to learn that the safety of our children means nothing to the county. What kind of weird figuring is going on? Why does Dublin High School have 4-way stop signs at Village Parkway? And then the county says kindergarten thru junior high school students don't need stop signs on Village Parkway. High school-aged students have stop signs (4-way), but grammar school students don't need them.

You say you will "study" traffic patterns along Village Parkway next fall ... I hope each of you is willing to take the responsibility of our children trying to cross Village Parkway with no crossing guard or stop signs. I hope you realize that the first tradgedy will be one too many. It will be one that could have been avoided if the proper safety measures had been taken.

I just have to wonder if any of you have children who will have to cross that street to get to and from school next fall.

Editor, The Times:

Property taxes keep rising. A local citizens' group has organized to protest their assessments by the county appraiser. The Guv said it best: "If you want lover property taxes, the services requested must be less and the local school boards have to be more economical."

Contrast this advice with the Livermore School Board. When Sup't. Croce's contract was up, they locked the public in by giving a 4 year contract when only a one year is necessary. In addition, they gave him a raise to $39,000 per year, and made this retoactive. Thus, in three years our sup't. costs us $39,000 instead of $28,500. This is an increase of 35 per cent for no apparent reason.

A four year contract with a retoactive raise is a poor business practice. Our school enrollment remains virtually unchanged. Harder bargaining should have been carried out. No wonder the taxpayers are revolting. No wonder school employees are demoralized and are suspicious of a board which shows such a cozziness with the administrators.

Personally, I think None of the incumbents (Davis, McFarland and Prado) should be returned to office March 8.

Berry's World

"Why don't we all try reading books at the table, like Amy Carter?"

Dr. Joyce Brothers

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: Every time my husband and I go out in our car we end up in a quarrel because he wants to pick up hitchhikers even though we may be going only 20 miles away. I think he does this just to irritate me. I really don't like to travel. He kids me by saying that if I'd take a boat trip with him, we wouldn't be able to pick up riders and so one source of our problems would be over. Do you think I should make an effort to take a trip? Could he be trying to punish me by his insistence on ruining our small local trips? — V.W.

DEAR V.W.: He may be trying to get some tiny revenge for your attitude about long distance travel, but it's more likely that he identifies with the carefree (or what he views as carefree) hitchhikers. Often individuals who pick up these wanderers of the road share vicariously in the lack of responsibility and the sense of freedom that the hikers seem to have.

Most people try to find a balance between security and stimulation. When environment is comfortable and predictable, some like to find a challenge. Young people may put a sack on their back and take to the road and others may get pleasure in the risk involved in picking them up and sharing in the excitement. This can be more than the driver bargained for and may even prove fatal. Police in most areas strongly urge drivers not to pick up hitchhikers.

Your husband may pick up the hitchhikers because he feels a sense of territoriality about the areas in which you drive and he wants to play host by showing his guests around. You might try inviting someone you know along for the ride and fire questions at your husband about the area.

I suggest you definitely make the effort to overcome your anxieties so you can make and enjoy a boat trip.

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: Before I gave birth my husband and I had a wonderful sexual relationship. Since I became a mother, however, my husband has stayed away from me and I couldn't understand why When I asked him about it, he said that women were less interested in sex after they became mothers and that this was as it should be. I don't know if this is true generally, but it certainly isn't in my case. Am I unusual or is there something wrong with our marriage? — G.J.

DEAR G.J.: If your husband is withdrawing from you sexually, then there's something "wrong," at this time, with your marriage. However, the problem can easily be overcome if your husband becomes more enlightened about his attitudes.

Having children doesn't make a woman frigid or disinterested in sex, if she's healthy to begin with. She may be harried and fatigued by the burdens that have been suddenly thrust upon her, but apart from this, her sexual responses are more likely to increase. A woman who feels contented with her child and fulfilled as a woman is much more apt to enjoy her sexual role. Many women feel totally free sexually after giving birth to a child.

I believe the real problem lies in your husband's attitudes, possibly stemming from his ethnic background. Some cultures put mother on a pedestal thereby making motherhood and sexuality incompatible. Perhaps because of his attitude, probably formed in childhood, and as a result of watching his father's behavior with his wife, he may feel sexually inhibited around you, for he sees you as a "mother," too pure to be interested in sex. He identifies you with his own mother and thus sex becomes an act of incest.

These problems can be overcome but he may need professional help. It will be worthwhile, because the future happiness of both of you is at stake.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

We used this hand last August to show the late Sidney Silodor, one of the greatest bridge players of all time, at his best.

He really got a lot of mileage out of his 11 high-card points as he bid to the heart slam, but he found an unusual play at trick one that saved him worry about the queen of trumps.

He went right up with dummy's ace of diamonds at trick one and dropped his queen. Led a heart to his ace and a second heart to dummy's jack. East showed out and Sidney wound up making seven. He would have lost the hand if East held the queen of hearts and was smart enough to cash the king of diamonds, but put yourself in East's place. Wouldn't you assume that the queen of diamonds had been a singleton and wouldn't you have tried to cash the ace of spades?

The reason we are bringing this hand up again is that several readers have written to ask us how Sidney got rid of his four of diamonds.

The answer is that he didn't. After playing the third trump he went after clubs and after discarding dummy's jack-5 and 3 of diamonds on clubs he was able to ruff that four of diamonds in dummy.

Ask the Jacobys

A Canadian reader asks a simple question which is: "What is the value of each trick in no trump?"

The answer to this one is that the first trick counts 40 and each subsequent trick counts 30.

(Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

When you play a game called bowling, you try to knock down 10 wooden pins by rolling a ball toward them.

Bowling has been played for thousands of years in various forms. Balls and pins found in Egyptian graves show that bowling is at least 7,000 years old.

Modern bowling originated hundreds of years ago in Germany. German churchmen rolled large stones at their wooden war clubs called kegels, and bowlers today are still often called keglers.

The early Dutch settlers of New York bought the game of ninepins to America. In the tale of Rip Van Winkle, the strange beings Rip meets in the mountains are playing nine-pins, and the noise of their balls striking the pins sounded like thunder.

People gambled so heavily that "bowling at ninepins" was outlawed in the 1800s. But bowlers soon found a way around the law. They added an extra pin and started the tenpin game of today!

For Friday, March 4, 1977

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't take things for granted today. They could turn out to be thorns in the flesh. Be extremely detail-conscious.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Friends will not respond favorably to your criticism today. Say nothing if you can't be complimentary.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It will only cause indigestion for those at the dinner table if you bring home petty business problems. Leave them at work.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) One who likes to take apart your ideas should not be let in on present plans. She could start you thinking negatively.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Keep current on present obligations and try to clear up any small bills you can today. Their neglect could multiply your woes.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't raise issues over little things with your mate today. You're better off going along with the deal.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Plan all your moves carefully today. A small factor overlooked could later balloon into a much larger problem.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Even though friends may try to draw you into a condemnation of someone, don't participate. What's said will get back to her.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) One who's a bit resentful of you will undermine you if you do something she can talk about. Keep your guard up today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You have good ideas, but you don't have a corner on the market today. Give others an equal chance to express their views.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) In joint ventures today make sure you're not the fall guy who pays the bill. If there are liabilities, spread them evenly.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If a companion says something derogatory to you today, don't respond in like manner. It's better to turn the other cheek.

Couple attends Ba ha'i

PLEASANTON — Norma and Jim Johnson of the Pleasanton Ba ha'i recently attended a Ba ha'i International Teaching Conference in Merida, Mexico, on the Yucatan Peninsula, one hundred miles from Haiti and Jamaica.

Fifteen hundred persons, from 44 countries attended, including native Mayans, Persians, Africans and American Indians.

The primary goal of Ba ha'i is that the whole of mankind will be united in the Golden Age of Truth. "Be ye therefore as the leaves of one tree."

Norma reported that the Mayan people she met on the conference were "so beautiful, so nice to us, a pure-hearted people. There are 5000 natives are Ba ha'is, on the Yucatan Peninsula. the Johnsons enjoyed an entertainment present by the natives.

The whole experience of conference and native hospitality gave the Johnsons a renewed sense of dedication to their Ba ha'i faith. Norma states that she has never run into prejudice of any kind since becoming a Ba ha'i. "People are progressively more open - minded."

Quilting

DUBLIN — So many quilts have been completed in the last year at Lutheran Church of the Resurrection, 7557 Amador Valley Blvd., that more raw materials are needed.

These include left-over or remnants of fabric for the patchwork fronts, matress pads for fillers, and old drapes or bedspreads for the backing.

Please bring these items to the church as soon as possible. It's great to recycle these apparently useless articles into quilts which can be used in many parts of the world for bedding, shelter, luggage, and in many other ways.

San Damiano Retreat planned for all men

LIVERMORE — St. Michael Parish will sponsor a special retreat for men on March 25-27 weekend. The retreat is open to Catholic and non-Catholic men of all ages, from high school seniors and older. The purpose of the retreat is to set aside a brief time for those who never seem to have time "just for themselves."

San Damiano, in Danville, was built 15 years ago in the Spanish Mission type architecture. The site includes retreat facilities of 80 private rooms, each with private bathrooms. Built on an elevation surrounded by trees, the site affords a magnificent view of Mt. Diablo, Benicia, and the surrounding cities. The grounds include a beautiful landscaped garden and three to four miles of hiking area.

The March retreat will enable men to find a quiet time for themselves ... to get away from the hustle and bustle of everyday life, and to enjoy a time of quiet recollection, meditation and rest.

The retreat will be headed by a trained, realistic, modern Retreat Master; it will include seven spiritual talks to stimulate personal evaluation, such as, "Who am I?" — "Where am I going?" — "What is my life all about?" — "How can I be a better person?" Personal counseling and private discussion periods are included in the schedule.

The Retreat is designed for men who want to get away for a quiet time to think, to pray and to understand their spiritual needs; it will give each man a time to consider personal concerns and priorities.

All the activities are optional, and participants attend only those sessions they wish. Men interested in signing up for this event, should make reservations either at St. Michael Rectory, or by calling Randy Schlientz, 447-9117, Al Lewis, 447-6087. Chuck DePaoli, 447-6794, or Jerry Stratman, 447-7976.

The Retreat starts Friday, March 25, with dinner at 7 p.m., and concludes on Sunday, March 27, at 2:30 p.m. A suggested amount for the weekend is $30 to cover cost of the program, meals and accommodations, but it is not obligatory. Participants may give what they wish.

HUMANS AND HIBERNATION

WASHINGTON (AP) — Because animals which hibernate live longer than other mammals of the same weight and size which do not, scientists are speculating on the benefits of hibernation for humans, says National Geographic.

In hibernation, all body processes are slowed, body temperature drops and breathing is reduced and irregular. Food and oxygen requirements are greatly reduced. Dormant humans could live through the centuries needed to make long space voyages, scientists theorize, although they see only a dim possibility of inducing true hibernation in man.

Scientists are not certain what triggers hibernation but they believe it is closely linked to the endocrine and nervous systems.

The Rev. Sam Roberson, Associate Pastor of Pleasanton Presbyterian Church, has accepted a new position as Pastor of the Carpenteria Community Church in the Santa Barbara Presbytery.

Rev. Roberson leaves for new assignment

PLEASANTON — The Rev. Sam Roberson, Associate Pastor of the Pleasanton United Presbyterian Community Church for the past five and a half years, is leaving shortly to become the Pastor of the Carpenteria Community Church in Carpenteria, California. He is replacing the Rev. John Imbach, who is retiring after many years in that church.

Rev. Roberson attended Duke Divinity School and San Francisco Theological Seminary, and was ordained a Presbyterian Minister by the San Francisco Presbytery in January of 1972.

He and his wife, Whitney, have endeared themselves to the church community through their devoted service in the field of Christian Education.

They and their little daughters, Rachel, and Rebecca, are looking forward to their life in a new community and the opportunity to grow spiritually with it and the Church, according to the Rev. Roberson.

At one p.m. on Sunday, March 6, at the Pleasanton United Presbyterian Community Church, members and friends will say goodbye at a Farewell reception for the Roberson family.

Christian job service

LAFAYETTE — Christian Workers Service is a unique service to the Christian community. It performs the traditional functions of an employment agency, with the difference that only Christians are eligible to receive their services.

They also offer assistance in career planning, career placement, employment opportunity trends, self - evaluation processes in capabilities and personal growth training. It is an non-profit California association.

CWS welcomes the opportunity to work closely with employers, to meet their employee needs. This extends to not only current needs, but to long range needs, as well, according to Nancy E. Schedin, Director.

"Personal service is extended to all applicants by personal interviews, positive job interviews techniques, and consulting in career harmony with the Lord." So states the press release.

The schedule for Spring classes have been set for all who are unemployed, or desire a more challenging career. The spring classes will concentrate on the areas of immediate job finding techniques, in light of the continued high unemployment situation.

Classes are free, and anyone desiring to attend are welcome. They are held on Thursday nights in Lafayette, and on Tuesday nghts 3433 Golden Gate Way, 7 to 9 p.m., and on Tuesday nights in Castro Valley. For further information, call 284-2840.

St. Michael keeps busy

St. Michael will join in the observance of Operation Rice Bowl, with contributions going towards the needy of the world. The parish is also involved in "Turn Off the TV Week," scheduled to end Saturday, March 5. The action is part of an organized nation-wide attempt to protest television violence.

A Rosary will be recited publicly after the Saturday, March 5, 8 a.m. Mass in honor of Our Lady of Fatima. Applications for St. Michael School (the academic year of 1977-78) will be taken Sunday, March 6 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the school library. Girl Scout Sunday will be observed at the 8:15 a.m. Mass.

Bob Berlo is conducting an adult education course in Scripture entitled "St. Paul's First Letter to the Corinthians." The class is held every Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Education Center.

Parishioners are urged to read their church bulletins for coming events and CCD, Confirmation, Baptism and other infnrmation. Newcomers may pick up a bulletin at the Rectory, 458 Maple Street in Livermore.

Synagogue conference

On the weekend of March 11 through March 13, the Northern California Region of the United States Synagogue of America will hold its first-ever leadership conference. Aimed at all synagogue leaders, both lay and professional, the conference will feature some of the foremost United Synagogue leaders in the fields of administration, youth activities, ritual practices and education.

Held at Parajo Dunes on Monterey Bay, the conference will cost $75 per person. The fee includes two nights lodging on the beach, six meals and registration. Rabbi Benjamin Kreitman will be keynote speaker.

For more information call the local United Synagogue at (415) 397-1342.

Presbyterians announce adult class schedule

PLEASANTON — The United Presbyterian Church of Pleasanton, Lois Codd, Coordinator, announces adult education classes for the spring.

Starting on March 9, 7:30 p.m., will be Rev. Vogt's Bible Study Class, at the Kirk House. This class includes guidance in how to interpret Scripture in the light of contemporary Biblical scholarship.

Hebrew lessons are still open to adults and young people on Thursday evenings, 7 to 8:30 p.m. Fee is $10. These are held in the Kirk House.

A special event on Thursday, March 10, 8 p.m., is "Mates Change... And They Forget to Tell Each Other." Roy Fairchild, BD, MA, PhD, Professor of Education and Social Psychology at San Francisco Theological Seminary since 1959, and on the faculty of the Graduate Theological Union of Berkeley, will conduct a lecture discussion, at 100 Neal Street, 8 p.m.

There will be a Marriage Enrichment Weekend, March 12 and 13, at Incline Village, Lake Tahoe, Nevada. The cost is $40. per couple, which includes two nights lodging at a Lake Tahoe condominium.

Call the church at 846-4436 for further information about classes.

Carl Rogers cassette tapes are available to borrow free of charge. Titles include: "Counseling As I See It," "To Be That Self Which One Truly Is," "Some Elements of Effective Communications," "The Basic Encounter Group and Its Process," "Paul Tillich and Carl Rogers: A Dialogue." If interested, call Lois Codd at 846-4229.

Lenten services at Resurrection

DUBLIN — The Lutheran Church of the Resurrection, 7557 Amador Valley Blvd., has announced a series of special mid-week services in preparation for Easter.

The Rev. David G. Aubrey invited issues an invitation to all to come share the services on the following Wednesday evenings, at 7:30 p.m.; March 9, "Share His Wholeness," March 16, "Extend His Mission," March 23, "Tell His Good News," March 30, "See His Truth."

Tape ministry

Worship services and special events are now available on tape from the Lutheran Church of the Resurrection in Dublin. The tapes, which also include a recording of Eldridge Cleaver's testimony, may be borrowed or purchased on a donation basis from the church office. For more information contact Randy Gustafson or Ron Rinard at the church.

Living Waters in Pleasanton

PLEASANTON — An exciting, gospel singing choir will sing in Pleasanton, at the Pleasanton Assembly of God, 6656 Alisal Street, on Sunday, March 6, at 6 p.m. .

They are from Christian High School and will be directed by Mr. Merle Souza, according to an announcement by the Rev. W.T.R. Chapman, pastor of Pleasanton Assembly.

Special songs will include "Thy Will Be Done," "Keep On Singing," "For God So Loved The World," "Praise the Lord, " and "Didn't He Shine."

Deacon Nowacki to be ordained

St. Augustine's Deacon, the Rev. Greg Nowacki, will be ordained into the Catholic priesthood on May 7, at St. Pius X Prep School Chapel, in Galt, Calif. after 15 years of preparation.

The thought had been in his mind since youth to become a priest. In high school he made the decision, and took four years of preparatory program and his novitiate, a year of special training with The Society of the Divine Savior, the Salvatorians.

After the novitiate, he took the vows to become a priest. Then came four years of college, which began at Mt. St. Paul at Waukasha, Wisconsin. This college then merged with Dominican College in Racine, Wisconsin. He also attended Monterey Institute for foreign studies, and Georgetown University at Washington, D.C., as well as the University of Wisconsin.

Following graduation he taught for three years at John F. Kennedy Prep School at St. Nazianz, Wisconsin. Then he made the decision to go back to his theological studies, so he went to Washington Theological Coalition, in Washington, D.C., followed by the Graduate Theological Union in Berkeley. In Berkeley, he received his Master's Degree, and his Master of Divinity degree.

Greg's parents are Walter Leo and Joyce Nowacki of La Habra, California. He is one of a family of five sons and a daughter, which he describes as "a diverse group."

The Rev. Greg Nowacki will perform his first Mass on May 8, at noon at St. Augustine's in Pleasanton. The musical group, The Second Collection will play. His next Mass will be in Los Angeles, near his parents, and after another two weeks, he will give a Mass in Chicago. He plans to remain in Pleasanton for at least another year. He says he considers Pleasanton his home.

Livermore Life Center

LIVERMORE — The Livermore Life Center will hold its bimonthly Potluck Dinner in the Social Hall of the Asbury Methodist Church, 4743 East Ave., on Saturday evening, March 5, at 5:30 p.m.

All teachers, students, CIHU workers and their families, and the public are invited.

Also, all are reminded to bring one potluck item for the dinner and to bring table service (plates and silverware) for each person in the group, or family. Dinner will start at 6 p.m.

After the potluck there will be the usual entertainment and the children's Cootie Game and breaking of the Pinata.

The Livermore Life Center is affiliated with Laubach Literacy, Inc. and is dedicated to stamping out illiteracy. Classes and fellowship and social hours are held regularly for students and anyone interested in learning more about the Life Center may call the director, Maria Hopkins, 443-0191. All teachers are volunteer workers and anyone interested in learning how to become a teacher may also call Maria Hopkins.

During the past year a scholarship program was initiated to aid needy students in the literacy program.

Information on all activities and programs is available at the Board meetings held every two months at 1106 Marigold Road, Livermore. The next board meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, April 11.

Jesus lives at Amador

PLEASANTON — A Bible study class is being held at Amador High School every Tuesday at the lunch hour.

The purpose of the group is to share, discuss, and talk about the Bible. It is non-denominational, and open to everyone, teachers, and students.

Faculty sponsors are Mr. Jim Kortan and Mr. Bud Engel.

City kids cotton to 4-H programs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — California's 4-H clubs, once deeply rooted in the countryside, have been spreading into the cities and suburbs in recent years.

But, to their surprise, 4-H officials have found they haven't had to dust off their country ways and polish up on city manners.

"We found that the city kids wanted to the same things the rural kids do," says Fisk Phelps, state 4-H director.

While city youngsters obviously couldn't be encouraged to raise a herd of dairy cattle or plant 40 acres of corn, they could easily care for small rabbits or chickens, and inner-city vacant lots could be made into blooming gardens.

San Francisco's 4-H coordinator, Jim Brenner, has sponsored projects on container gardening, for example.

Youngsters planted vegetables or flowers in window boxes, milk cartons or styrofoam cups. Brenner said the youngsters then displayed their projects at a city gardening show that attracted 10,000 spectators — an accomplishment most rural 4-H clubs would be hard pressed to match.

Phelps terms urban San Mateo County the state's "biggest success story."

That county boasts a minifarm program, which includes 10 small farms located inside county lines and within easy traveling distance for most city youngsters. The farms offer experience in caring for farm livestock, Phelps said.

Of the 140,000 4-H Club members in the state, about 67,000 hail from farms and small towns. Nearly 34,000 youngsters are from towns in the 10,000-to 50,000 population range, and another 39,000 come from cities and immediate suburbs.

The move to cities hasn't be without problems.

Recruiting youngsters from minority groups and low-income families has called for a "major push," Phelps said.

"We have to do our best to do innovative things to reach the hard-to-reach," said San Mateo County's 4-H coordinator, Hank Sciaroni. "You can't just say, 'Here it is.' You have to take it to them."

Sciaroni said one of San Mateo's farms serves primarily the children of Spanish-speaking migrant farm workers. Another farm is being built in an area with a high percentage of black residents.

Not all city youngsters are content with the traditional 4-H agricultural projects.

Brenner said he's had the most success with backpacking and mountaineering projects. Last year, more than 800 San Francisco youngsters went on 40 camping outings with Brenner.

Other urban-oriented projects include an experimental project in Ventura County aimed at working with juvenile gangs. Orange County is planning a project dealing with dramatic arts.

Phelps said other state projects being planned include parks beautification, marine sciences and after-hours school enrichment programs.

Murphy since defeat

crook, about how they played up things: 'Did you know he was investigated by the grand jury? Did you know that he had a double homeowner's exemption?' All this kind of crap that was totally false in every respect."

Murphy's rapid tongue picked up speed as he talked of the campaign and final tally, showing him 1,100 votes away from victory out of a total of 75,000.

"These were the types of things that were the difference. A switch of 500 votes would have meant a different ball game. So when you figure the number of people gullible enough to swallow that kind of stuff, I don't feel very badly.

"My opponent surely didn't have any great mandate. She squeaked by and I don't get involved with anything political. I laugh at some of the things that go on, I can almost cry at some of the things that are going on. I think in the long run, the taxpayers are going to suffer. It was their choice. I'm out of it, so I don't look back."

Murphy emphasized his determination not to critique his successor, Valerie Raymond, or the current board because of their short term in office. He does still get calls from people not satisfied with the new supervisor, he says.

"I get calls from people up at Castlewood who say, 'Jeez, we can't do anything with that woman, what do we do?' Well, I'm in the position where I have to back away from it," Murphy says, adding that he refers them to the new supervisor.

He boasts of the cooperation he received from county staff, saying it was the best of any supervisor during his term due to his becoming part of the staff, working for the people. But his worst dealings came with the City of Livermore.

"Everything that was ever put together by Livermore City Council was always with the intent of putting some kind of a hamstring on the county, saying to the county, 'You should just totally ignore your responsibilities and do it our way'," Murphy said.

"The majority of the people on the Livermore City Council, from the time I was on the board of supervisors, has been in the public trough. They have never had to go out and make a living. They have been eating out of the public trough, or in the cases such as now, somebody closer to them, a husband or wife situation, was eating out of the public trough, and as a consequence they don't know what it is for people to have to go out and struggle to earn a living.

"If you'll check with county staff, you'd find out that there is no city in Alameda County the county has more trouble with than Livermore," he said.

These are moot issues now. Private citizen John Murphy has returned to his real estate business, leaving behind the world of politics. But what removed him from that world?

"I think where I missed was that I didn't think people were as gullible as they are and that they would believe the type of garbage that was put out about me. It was false garbage, that's what killed me. If it were true, I would have no beefs at all."

Dial Carter

WALNUT CREEK — Saturday's Presidential ratiothon is expected to draw thousands of telephone calls and an Excedrin-type headache for phone company crews.

Because the experimental radio call-in program, to be aired locally on KCBS-AM radio between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m., is the first of its kind, Pacific Telephone Co. officials say they don't know what to expect. But they're anticipating the worst.

"Local residents might find some telephone traffic jams," a spokesman said Thursday.

Amador girls blast Titans

HAYWARD — In a game as fascinating as paint drying the Amador Valley Dons moved to the semi-finals of the North Coast Section girls basketball playoffs by defeating Kennedy of Fremont 50-34 last night at Cal-State Hayward.

The victory enables the Dons to meet powerful Moreau this afternoon. Moreau has won 30 straight games and polished off Monte Vista, 72-47 yesterday afternoon.

Jayne Kuhns led the Amador Valley attack with 23 points but the main reason for the East Bay Athletic League representives' victory was the ineptidude of their of their opposition.

The Titans shot a dismal 22.4 percent from the field including a 1-14 prformance by second-leading scorer Michelle Costello. The Dons' only shot 33.3 percent but 30 Kennedy turnovers and 12 Amador Valley steals allowed the Dons to get off 18 more shots.

Sheryl Withoft had 13 points and was the only other Amador Valley player in double figures but Debbie Oxsen had six points and nine rebounds, three steals and two blocked shots.

The game was marked by inumerable walking violations and jump balls and despite the low score took nearly to play.

Amador Valley trailed 6-2 in the eearly going but a seven-minute long scoring drought allowed the Dons to build up a 26-15 halftime advantage.

The ragged second half did little to change the margin or to advance the game of basketball. The Dons will have to play much better to have a chance against Colleen Galloway and her Moreau teammates this afternoon.

Berkeley hangs on, edges Don boys

HAYWARD — Talent will out.

The Amador Valley Dons boys' basketball team played its heart out in the North Coast Section playoffs last night at Cal-State Hayward but the Berkeley Yellowjackets managed to eke out a heartstopping 65-62 victory and advance to the semi-finals.

Amador led throughout the first three quarters and carried a 45-43 lead into the last eight minutes. However, Berkeley put on a spurt and pulled out to a 53-48 lead bluge with 6:03 left and the Dons had every chance to fold their tents and quitely steal away.

But Skip Mohatt's well-coached team came battling back to cut the lead to 53-52 on baskets by Chris Kearns and John Sevo. Berkeley once more pulled away to a five-point margin but this time Amador Valley came back to take the lead.

Kearns hit two more baskets, Rick Howard dropped in a pair of free throws, and the Dons had their sights set on one of the biggest upsets of the season With only 2:10 remaining.

James Armstrong's follow shot, however, gave Berkeley a one-point advantage but then Don Hall dropped in a pair of pressure-packed free throws and Amador Valley led 60-59 with 1:42 remaining.

Berkeley bounced back with two free throws by Mike Mendez but when Amador's Mike Hansen missed the first of a one-and-one with 56 seconds to go it gave Berkeley a chance to put the game away and that's what the Yellowjackets did.

Doug Harris took a perfect pass from Don Sally and slipped in a lay-up that gave Berkeley a 63-60 lead with only 30 seconds left.

A Sevo 15-footer and two more free throws by Mendez were just window dressing and a gutty Amador Valley effort was all for naught.

James Foster led all scorers with 19 markers while Mendez and Kearns both had 18. Chris hit all of his field goal attempts. Howard finished with 14 points and topped everyone with eight rebounds. Sam Jorgensen with 11 and Sevo with 10 were the only other Don players in double figures.

Dickey hero for GS

OAKLAND — Derrek Dickey scored his only two points of the ball game with 18 seconds to go in overtime, but they proved to be the winning ones as the Golden State Warriors conquered the Philadelphia 76ers, 121-119, Thursday ngiht.

A sell - out crowd at the Oakland Arena, including NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien, watched Dickey step to the free throw line with the score knotted at 119 all, after the '76ers Darryl Dawkins had fouled him in attempting to avert a Warrior field goal.

Dickey laid the first, missed the second, but then hit the penalty shot, to give the Warriors their fourth straight victory.

Philly moved the ball down court in the famed Dr. "J", Julius Erving, was supposed to take the shot from the corner. But by the time Erving put the ball up, time had run out.

A despondent '76er coach Gene Shue, said, "He just fumbled the ball."

Captain Rick Barry paced a Golden State offense with 33 points and one which found the Warriors leaving at every quarter break, except the fourth, which wound up tied at 109 all.

Philly's LLoyd Free connected for two free throws in the final 35 seconds, to send the game into overtime.

Jamaal Wilkes had 28 points for GS before fouling out late in the contest, with Phil Smith adding 17 and Charley "The Grasshopper" Dudley 12.

The '76ers were paced by guard Doug Collins with 33 points, Erving with 25 and George McGinnis with 22.

Golden State hit 56 per cent of its field goal tries in the first half, drilling home 28 of 50, and went into the locker room wtih a 63-55 advantage. The Warriors were in command 87 to 82 after three periods.

Al Attles, Warrior coach, naturally was elated with the victory and emphasized, "It doesn't give you any advantage if you have the home court after being on the road for a week and a half. But every team in the NBA has to face the same situation."

Chabot nine routed

HAYWARD — Chabot College's baseball team started out the season as the Golden Gate Conference favorite but the way things are going they could be a strong contender for the last spot.

After losing an opening 7-0 decision to West Valley Tuesday, the Glads were drubbed by visiting San Mateo here yesterday on the Chabot campus.

Barry Silva threw a masterful five-hitter for the winners, going the distance and allowing no doubles.

The victors scored eight runs in the first two innings and coast from there.

Chabot got its only run when right fielder Don Randle belted a third - inning single to drive in Tom Parker.

The Glads travel to Laney tomorrow.

Glad netters win

Chabot College's boys team tuned up for tomorrow's olden Gate Conference match against DeAnza by dumping Sacramento City College 7-2 in the Capital City Tuesday.

The only Gladiator defeats were Glenn Teixeria's three-set loss to Bob Trevor in the top-seeded match and the first doubles team.

Trevor and Sam Benlama teamed to topp former Amador Valley star Ron Lapp and Mark Warrender in the doubles feature, 3-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Outside of those defeats Chabot netters won every singles match in two sets and two of the three doubles events.

Lapp defeated Benlama 6-4, 6-4, in the second-seeded match.

LEMON-DOBY TEAM UP

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Lemon and Larry Doby, teammates for 10 years between 1947 and 1958 with the Cleveland Indians, are being reunited this spring. Lemon, the Hall of Fame pitcher with seven 20-game seasons, is managing the Chicago White Sox for Bill Veeck, his former boss in Cleveland. And Doby will be one of Lemon's coaches.

Doby, a .283 career hitter, hit .38 in the 1948 World Series when Lemon beat the Boston Braves 4-1 and 4-3. Doby last season coached at first base for the Montreal Expos.

Livermore tourney

Poke girls dump CP

Janice Eudaly's 27 points helped carry College Park from a 22-point halftime deficit to within five points of Livermore in the fourth quarter, but the Pokes survived a night of 51 foul calls to post a 62-48 victory last night in the Livermore High Girls' Basketball Tournament first-round action in Livermore.

In other games last night, Pleasant Hill racked up California, 54-40, Mission San Jose swept to a 42-27 win over Granada, while Carondolet walked Notre Dame of Belmont 57-38.

The first half of the Livermore game was a refs' version of let freedom ring. The men in the stripes whistled 24 fouls in the first half alone as the Cowgirls marched to the line to take a 33-11 lead. Hardiman scored 11 points in the first half, getting some key steals and rebounding well underneath the boards for her small size.

After taking a 14-5 first-quarter lead, the Pokes ripped off an 11-0 spurt, Hardiman getting nine of the points to take a 25-5 lead. Janet Volkman had two free throws in the run.

College Park finally got some good outside shooting from Janice Eudaly to get on the board for the first time in the second quarter on the 2:54 mark.

Today's games will pit Livermore and Pleasant Hill at 8:30 procceeded by Mission San Jose and Carondolet at 7. Losers' bracket action will see Notre Dame and Granada squaring off at 4, while Cal meets College Park at 5:30. On Saturday games will be at 1, 3 and 5.

The Grizzlies stayed tight with Pleasant Hill, clinging to within 10 points at 44-34 late in the game in about the most comeptitive contest of the first round.

But the Grizzlies were hampered by turnover troubles to drop the 54-40 contest. The Rams, strangely enough, scored all 54 of their points on field goals, missing four charity shots.

P.J. Moore led the game in scoring with a 25-point effort while Pat Dulick pumped in 11 points. Judy Iten led the Rams with 15 points, while Julie Strain connected for 12 points and Debbie Gooch had 10 markers.

Granada's cagers fell asleep in the second half and could never quite get back in the ball game after falling behind, 36-20 after three quarters.

After staying relatively close to the Warriors at halftime, 22-16, the Matadors scored only four points in the third quarter while the Warriors racked up 14.

They held Mission San Jose to just six points in the final period but could only score seven themselves to fell 42-27.

Lynn Boulisman ripped the nets for 18 points to provide well over half of the Granada scoring but fouled out of the game in the fourth quarter after hitting seven field goals and four of five free throws. No other Matador had more than two points. Mission San Jose, on the other hand, received a 10-point effort from Becky Heffner who led them in scoring. She provided the bulk of the scoring as no other Warrior, except for Sharon Childs's six points, past the four-point mark.

Mission San Jose had a terrible night at the free throw line, despite the win. They sank only four of 19 shots for a poor 21 percent mark. The Matadors sank seven of 14 charity shots for 50 percent but committed 18 fouls of their own in the contest in a futile effort to twhart the Mission San Jose running attack.

Carondolet jumped off to a 31-16 halftime lead on route to a 57-38 win over Norte Dame of Belmont in the first game of the evening.

Receiving a point effort from Debbi Rasch the Cougars marched out to a 5-25 quarter lead.

Norte Dame had two scorers hitting for 12 points. Kathy Gulyes canned five jumpers and two free throws, while Sandy Campbell pumped in six shots from the field to lead the Tigers.

EBAL matmen ready

SACRAMENTO — Four East Bay Athletic League wrestlers will compete in the state high school championships tonight and tomorrow at American River College here.

Naish Piazza of Livermore (141 pound division), Granada's Brett Nadeau (122) and the San Ramon duo of Steve Ramos (115) and Dave Arrighi (130) will compete in the meet.

Ramos was named Most Oustanding Wrestler at the EBAL meet.

OROVILLE — Granada High's boys' basketball team fell to host Oroville in the latter's tournament here yesterday, 35-31.

Joey Wujek led the losers with 13 markers and Weinberg led Oroville with 16 points.

WINS WITH A 65

OLD WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Jim Wright, a native of Enid, Okla., has won the Metropolitan PGA golf title for the third time in five years. Wright, a 36-year-old pro at Fenway in White Plains, N.Y., turned in a record 65 in the final round for a 54-hole total of 211 at the tricky 6,963-yard Glen Oaks Club here. Wright won the crown in 1972 and 1974.

Wright trailed Austin Straub, recent Vermont Open winner, by two shots after two rounds. But on the third and final day, Wright registered seven birdies and 11 pars for his 65. He beat host pro Texan Rex Baxter by nine strokes. Straub tied for third after a final round 78 in swirling winds.

Mustangs fall to Moreau

HAYWARD — Monte Vista High School's girls basketball team, entered in the North Coast Section tournament as an at-large team, quickly faded from contention against undefeated Moreau in first - round action last night and lost, 72-47, at Cal-State Hayward here.

The Mustangs trailed 16-2 after six minutes of play. Things didn't get any better after that. For the night, Monte Vista shot a galcial 22 percent with big guns Linda Silva and Carol Dolsby going six for 25 and four for 26 respectively.

Silva finished with 16 points and Sue Collar tossed in a season-high 14 points despite missing six straight free throws.

Overall, Monte Vista was 20 for 91 from the field, which in part accounted for Collar's 17 rebounds and Karin Fischer's 16. Moreau's Colleen Galloway had 21 rebounds to go along with her game-high 20 points.

Janice Pontes was the only other Mariner in double figures with 13 points.

The Mustangs tried a box-and-one-defense with Collar trailing Galloway all over the court. However, Moreau's fast break and Monte Vista's inability to make even layups made that ineffective.

The coupe De grace was applied in the third quarter when Galloway led the Mariners to a 20-10 edge and scored six markers.

Club thefts

A problem of vandalism on Castlewood's greens has prompted that golf club to post a $500 reward "for information leading to the arrest and conviction" of anyone caught destroying that property.

The $500 reward was voted by the Castlewood board of directors following a series of incidents, usually vehicles driven onto either of the club's two courses, under cover of darkness, and resulting in heavy wheel tracks left in the putting surfaces.

Castlewood has also beefed up night patrols in a move to curb that vandalism.

BR tryouts

There will be tryouts for Pleasanton Babe Ruth players starting tomorrow at Amador Valley High School's field.

Those youths in the year old group can tryout tomorrow at 10 a.m., Sunday at 1, March 12 at 10 or March 13 at 1.

All 13 - year - olds must have at least two tryouts.

Tryouts for the major league team including ages from 13-15 will begin March 19. Players 13 years of age will practice at 9 a.m., 14 year olds at 10- and 15-year olds players at 11.

On March 20 13-year-old players will try out at 1, 14 at 2 and 15 at 3.

On March 26 13-year-old players will tryout at 9, 14 at 10 a.m. and 15 at 11.

On March 27 13 year-old players can tryout at 1, 14 at 2 and 15 at 3.

All 14- and 15-year-old players that did not play on a Major League Babe Ruth team last season and those 13 who want to try out for the major league team must attend at least two tryouts.

The 13-year-old league will begin April 17.

Tri-Valley holds tryouts

The Tri-Valley Cubs will be conducting tryout sessions Saturday and Sunday at Dublin High School in preparation for their second season of play in Northern California's traditionally tough semi-pro baseball ranks.

The Cubs, who carry only players 19 years or older to avoid conflicts with Babe Ruth and Connie Mack programs, will start each day's activity will get under way at 1 p.m.

Tri-Valley opens its season at home April 3 with a doubleheader against the rival Oakland Ravens at 1 p.m. on the Dublin diamond.

The team, which spends about $2,000 per year to support its 50-plus game schedule, is also looking for sponsors.

Prospective players and sponsors should contact general manager John McCuaig, 828-3619, or manager Brian Billy, 828-0624.

Kuhn approves Lindblad sale

NEW YORK — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn approved Charles O. Finley's $400,000 sale of pitcher Paul Lindblad from Oakland to the Texas Rangers Thursday. But Kuhn said he'll keep a sharp eye on future dealing by the feisty owner of the A's.

Kuhn's decision was announced in a five-page release distributed by his office. The commissioner was unavailable for comment.

At a three - hour hearing Wednesday in Dallas, Kuhn interviewed Finley, with whom he has had frequent clashes in the past over the sale of players. The sale of the left-handed reliever was delayed by Kuhn pending the hearing.

The commissioner said — at the hearing and in his decision — he feared Finley was "liquidating" his ball club.

Kuhn had been accused by Finley of lacking "the guts or authority to cancel the sale."

"This will constitute notice to the Oakland club and every other major league club ... that I am seriously concerned that there may be a plan, developing or developed, to substantially liquidate the established talent of the Oakland club.

"I intend to scrutinize with great care any player assignments of the Oakland club which involve substantial payments of cash to the Oakland club; and I will not hesitate to disapprove such assignment if I find that they are not in the best interests of baseball and to take such other action either remedial or punitive as the circumstances may warrant," Kuhn's statement concluded.

The commissioner said he was satisfied "on the basis of the evidence developed at the hearing that the sale of Lindblad's contract to Texas should not be disapproved."

Kuhn cited sworn testimony by Finley denying any liquidation plan, the recent signings of the A's which have increased the number of players under contract to 20, and Lindblad's age (36) as some of the reasons for approving the sale to the Rangers.

Skip Mohatt

Skip tells his story

Skip Mohatt

NOTE: Yesterday, the Times took a look at the career of Amador Valley High School basketball coach Skip Mohatt. Today: the interview with Times sports editor Dave Weber concludes with a question and answer session conducted in Mohatt's portable classroom.

Although Mohatt teaches junior history and serves as student activities director, the room leaves no doubt as to its occupant's other vocation, decorated as it is with countless photos of the Dons in action and wall posters of each of Mohatt's past eight team captains.

Times: What are your main concerns and goals at the start of a season?

Mohatt: I think coach Underwood and myself talk less about winning to the kids than most coaches. We talk among ourselves about how we'lll be successful, but I've never told a kid he had to go out and win.

We present the idea that we'll have a strong fundamental philosophy to avoid confusing everyone from one week to the next; we stress organization and planning. And we limit praise and criticism to things concerning effort, rather than harping on mechanical errors — and you have to keep a balance between praise and criticism.

Times: How would you answer those who question the amount of discipline you use, or claim that you come down too hard on players?

Mohatt: There's not any doubt that at times I'll come down too hard on a player. I sat in on a UCLA practice and couldn't believe how hard John Wooden came down on Keith Wilkes for talking to a girl who wanted his autogragh.

I don't know whether this is good or bad, but you sometimes wonder where an individuals true feelings and loyalties are.

Times: How about off-court appearances and such. Your teams always have blazers and short hair. Is that still meaningful today?

Mohatt: Yes. That's still the image they want to have. We let them vote on the blazers and only a couple of JV kids didn't want them and they got shouted down pretty quick. A couple years ago we raised $500 for new blazers just like that.

We don't allow the players to wear headbands or wrist bands, because they're not part of the team uniform, but the only rule we ever had on hair is that it shouldn't have a negative effect on play.

Times: What about the local press and high school sports. You've never been in favor of your players talking to reporters, what do you think the relationship should be.

'This interview was not in the best interest'

Mohatt : My major concern is at the high school level, working with very young, no professional, kids in a very impressionable stage, most of whom aren't going on to a higher level are newspaper people on a limited budget, who aren't at the highest level either.

Most of them are just getting their start and in trying to move up, they try to create stories. High school players can be hurt by the type of coverage that overdoes the importance of individuals and coaches.

For example, I don't think this interview was really in the best interest of our school, since it tends to overdo my importance to the team.

Times: You've been a mover 'n' shaker in the quest to get the North Coast Section back into the Tournament of Champions, what do you forsee for high school ball in the future?

Mohatt: First of all, I don't approve of play-offs, like our league play-offs, that are only to increase revenues and give the fourth-place team something to get interested in. Money and prolonging interest may have value in the pros, but not at our level.

But, I do see the value in having champions move on to post-season play. My ultimate goal here would be to see a state play-off. I think that now that the NCS is back in the TOC, we're one game away from a state champion.

Times: Do you think the EBAL has been hurt, particularly in post-season play by the rising importance of soccer in the valley?

Mohatt: Well, the two sports are not really conducive to one another.

Out here, a kid starts playing soccer in the second grade and plays all year long. By the time he's a freshman, he's lost all hope of being effective on the basketball court.

I have some feelings about the community soccer programs that are not all positive, but as far as the high school programs go, I do think it would be better if they played in the fall.

Times: If soccer isn't diluting the talent, what would account for the EBAL's poor record against outside competition, not only the so-called "city" teams, but schools like Clayton Valley, Northgate or Campolindo?

MOHATT: Their not used to that type of competition. The city is where basketball is played best. Varsity basketball is like advanced chemistry or trigonometry; you wouldn't throw a kid into one of those without first teaching him basic arithmetic. I think the kids have a right to play against the best, but some coaches disagree.

You can't be 'building character' if ou only give a player things he can handle. You're cheating yourself and the kids if you don't give them total involvement.

Times: What about the constant comparison of 'city' and 'suburban' players, isn't that just a psuedonym for 'black' and 'white?'

Mohatt: It doesn't have anything to do with race. Rick Barry is a city player.

An athlete who lives in a poverty area fits his leisure time into what is available. In the country where I was brought up, the field is the most available thing. If you looked it up, I'll bet you'd find a ton of great baseball players were from the country.

City players are quicker and jump better because they play on asphalt and its so competitive, you have to be the best to get the ball or even get on the court.

The players we get don't play on black top — or in the off-season — so we have to develop a style that can take away a quicker team's advantage.

Times: You're also coaching JV softball. How'd you get involved in that and how is it different coaching girls?

Mohatt: I guess I'm a frustrated baseball player. Baseball people get to do a lot of neat things — sit in the sun, chew tobacco and give signals. It's something a Portagee can keep up with.

As far as adjusting to girls, I think I failed in the approach I tried last season. I was amazed some of the girls did enjoy me. I think I brought too much of my basketball philosophy with me.

Times: Two years ago, you had your son, Steve, on the basketball team. What kind of problems did this present?

Mohatt: It was probably much harder on him than it was on me. I didn't handle that as well as I thought I could. I didn't realize till late in the season that I wasn't treating him with as much patience as I would somebody else.

Truthfully, it was sort of a subconscious thing. I didn't continually think about him being my son, but I hollered at him more and yanked him out of games quicker.

Times: You've got the finest EBAL record of any current coach. What kind of goals do you have left for yourself?

Mohatt: I would really like to give junior college coaching a try, but there are two factors that make it unrealistic; my disability and politics.

'I'm in the best situation at Amador'

As far as high school is concerned, I'm in the best possible position at Amador; I enjoy the students and the community and administration have been co-operative and supportive.

I don't think in terms of winning any number of championships. There are seven other good coaches in this league, with any number of fine young men playing.

Championships are secondary to enjoying what I am doing.

Dugan primes for state meet

CYPRESS — Former Dublin High School wrestler Kevin Dugan will again participate in the state tournament this year.

Only this time Dugan will be competing in the state junior college tournament here. Last season Dugan qualified for the state high school championships but failed to score.

However, this time around could be a different story for Kevin.

Dugan and his Chabot College teammates have a strong chance at grabbing the state title. The Gladiators walked away with the Northern California title in Suisun City last weekend, scoring 120½ points to 74 for second-place Diablo Valley.

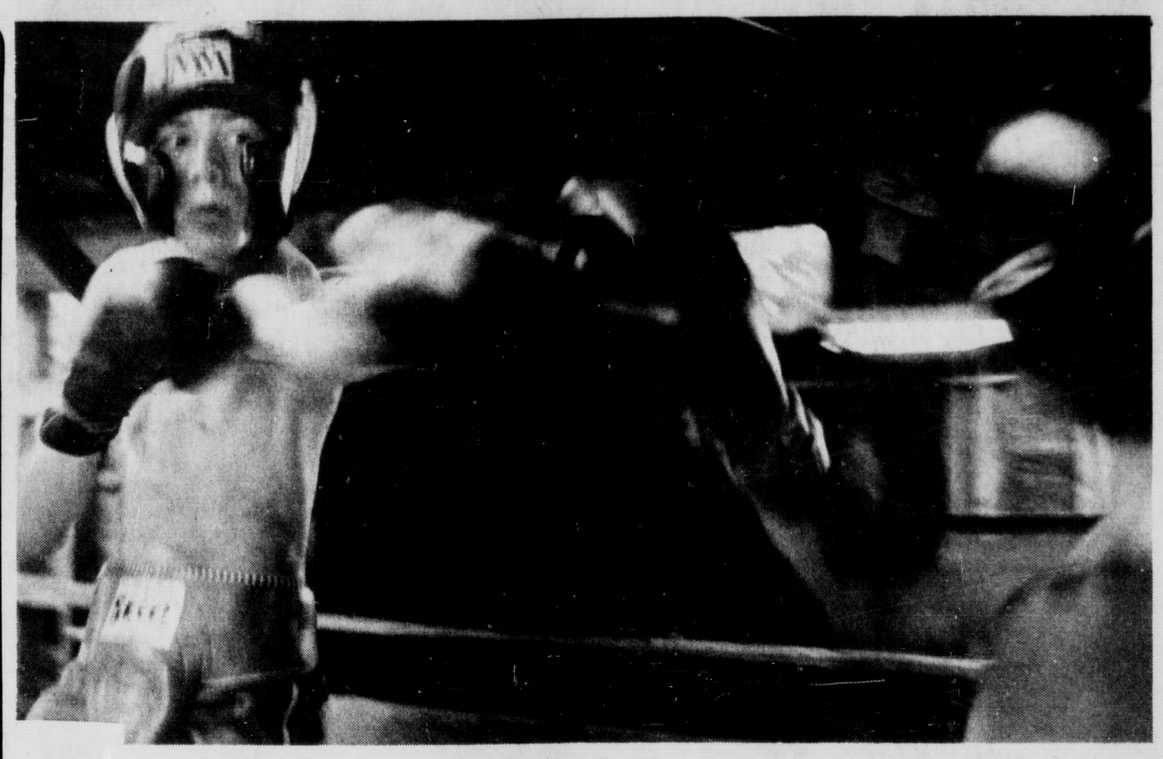
Dugan won the 158-pound class at the NorCal championships, defeating Bill Baker of Ohlone, 11-2. He was ahead 2-1 at the end of the first period but cinched the match with four straight points in the second stanza.

Kevin will carry an 18-2 record into the state meet, and should be regarded as one of the favorites in his weight class.

Other Chabot wrestlers who won championships last week Jesus Flores (118), Bill Wylie (150), John Wilhite (177), Curtis Bledsoe (190) and Dave Shaw (heavyweight).

Joe Stallworth (126) and Bill Choate (16) of the Gladiators finished fourth in the NorCal championships and also qualified for the state tournament.

Chabot's toughest competition should come from Palomar, which defeated the Gladiators for the state dual-meet championship last month.



Swinging away

Tony Garcia (left) of the Pleasanton Police Athletic League will compete in a boxing card at Amador Valley High School tomorrow night. Garcia, a 156-pounder in the light middleweight class, has complied a 7-0-1 record this season. Several other local boxers will also compete in the program.

Water policy shift stalled by EBMUD

OAKLAND — Despite complaints that the present water rationing system is unfair, the East Bay Municipal Utility District will wait until April before considering a change.

During a work session Wednesday, EBMUD directors decided to wait until April 12, when a report on the success of the current rationing plan will be presented, before considering a change.

Currently, all EBMUD households are allowed 280 gallons of water per day. This, in conjunction with a percentage cutback on industry and public agencies, is expected to produce a 25 per cent cutback in water use.

Alternatives directors have considered have included conducting a census to determine the size of each household, and to set the ration on a per-person basis, and the possibility of an overall 25 per cent cutback on all households.

EBMUD's staff will be preapred to begin a census immediately after the April meeting, if the directors agree to change the rationing method.

De Will Krueger, board member representing the San Ramon Valley and Central Contra Costa County customers, told directors the people of his ward have been hit hardest by the present plan.

It's a problem out there," he said. The area averages more than 800 gallons of water use per day per household. Krueger said his constituents have told him they will have to cut back 80 per cent rather than just 25 per cent.

In addition to the rationing plan,the board will hold a public hearing Tuesday on a proposed rate hike and a set of penalties for people exceeding their water ration.

The new water rate,for use during the current water shortage, is designed to make up for the expected decrease in revenue from water use cutbacks.

The new rate structure will remain the same for the first 500 cubic feet — 24 cents per 100 cubic feet. The next 3,500 cubic feet will cost 24 to 34 cents per 100 cubic feet. For the next 396,000 cubic feet, the price will be 32 cents per 100, and for more than 400,000 cubic feet the rate will be28 cents. Penalties, ranging from 150 to 1,000 per cent, will be added to the basic charge for persons who exceed their ration.

According to EBMUD figures, the current water rate for the average Central Contra Costa family is $9.50.

Maid Pageant set

PLEASANTON — The 1977 Pleasanton Maid Pageant will be held at Castlewood Country Club May 5 beginning with a dinner at 7 p.m. Tickets for the pageant will be available from each of the contestants and at the Chamber of Commerce office, 10 W. Neal St.

Lilly Ault is chairperson of the committee, assisted by Carol Bush, Ann Carroll, and Jill Hilts. Pageant director is Barbara Purrington.

If more than 10 entries are received, a run - off will be held to narrow the field to 10 finalists. Entries may be obtained at Amador and Foothill High Schools and at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Prizes include a savings bond, a trip to southern California and the opportunity to be the city's official representative for 1977-78. Entries must be received at the Chamber office by March 25.

One of the best

Pleasanton Mayor Robert Philcox presented a city commendation to local soccer player Brad Boldirini Monday night. Boldrini won the honor because he was one of three Western United States players named to the soccer all - America team in his age group. (Times Photo)

Continentai Customs, which deals in window shades and related items, held its grand opening recently. Present were Joyce Getty, vice - president of the Chamber of Commerce; Mayor Robert Philcox; Fred Caudill, owner and operator of the business; and Maid of Pleasanton Julie Hemming. The shop is located at 87 W. Neal St. and also employs Nydine Moriarity, secretary - bookkeeper, and Grace Tiemeyer, receptionist. Caudill brings 16 years experience to the business and may be reached at 846-1970. (Times Photo)

Hasseltine's hearing on industry

DANVILLE — A public hearing requested by Eric Hasseltine to deal with Contra Costa County's future industrial development will be held Tuesday, March 8, 1:30 p.m. in the board of supervisors chambers at 651 Pine St., Martinez.

Hasseltine is Contra Costa County's fifth district supervisor. His announcement about the hearing was made during a liaison session Thursday morning at the Danville Hotel Restaurant and Saloon.

He said the withdrawal of Dow Chemical's plans to build part of their petro-chemical complex in Contra Costa County spurred him to ask for the hearing.

All persons interested in the problems of balancing environmental and economic interests are invited to give their views Tuesday.

Hasseltine said the object of the conference was to assess the problems connected with lack of proper industrial growth, determine how the situation can be remedied and what alternatives are available.

He asked that groups or individuals wishing to be placed on the agenda to speak should contact his Pittsburg office, 439-4138.

All speakers are encouraged to bring at least one typewritten copy of their presentation to give to the Clerk of the board.

Hasseltine informed the audience of 50 that $5000 in federal monies had been made available to help fund a mini-bus for Danville's senior citizens. Danville's Rotary Club had donated the bus earlier. Diablo Savings and Loan provided the loan for insurance needed for the bus.

Women on patrol in Contra Costa

MARTINEZ — Starting next month women deputies will begin patroling Contra Costa on an experimental basis, Assistant Sheriff H.E. Hobert has disclosed.

The two women, who haven't been selected yet, will be drawn from the ranks and will work for at least three months with a training officer, rotating training officers every month, Hobert said.

He has asked the Deputy Sheriff's Association and the women for their reaction to the plan.

Deputy Chris Coward, currently assigned to the coroner's division, said of the proposal, "Let us find out if we can do it."

Why do Coward and her sisters want to risk getting beaten up or shot or risk the other hazards of patrol duty?

"For career development," she said.

"I've got 22 more years to work in this department and without patrol experience a lot of fields are closed off to me. I can't work homicide, burglary, or checks if I don't have patrol experience," she said.

"I don't want to get beat up, but I'm ready to take that risk," she added.

Coward is engaged to a Vallejo policeman, who she says is in agreement with the idea of women in patrol.

"He feels it's inevitable and we might as well be given the opportunity."

Coward and her sisters won't be the first Contra Costa police women to work patrol, Hobert said.

He said Concord Police and a West County department already have women working patrol.

He said the women will be assigned to single officer cars as are all the rest of the deputies, except those working Pittsburg and North Richmond. Occasionally a reserve officer will ride with them.

Some women won't be eligible to work in the patrol division, Hobert said, because they have been unable to pass the department's agility test. However, if they pass it at a future date they will be eligible.

He said some of the women are apprehensive about being the first for fear of fouling it up for the others if they don't excel.

The opinions of the men vary. One officer whose wife also is in law enforcement said he opposed women on patrol because they couldn't handle the physical task. He mentioned bar fights and certain domestic problems as an example.

Another officer expressed the attitude that the women will get hysterical in a tense situation.

Others welcomed the idea.

Amador candidates tell views on district woes

PLEASANTON — Amador Valley Joint High School District board candidates had their lone public quiz Thursday night before about 70 persons, prior to Tuesday's election.

Two incumbents, Wayne Barnes and Jack Delaney, as well as Frank Damerval and Gene Hinton are seeking three positions open on the board.

The problems of communications, curriculum and contract negotiations with teachers drew almost all the questions from the audience.

Damerval suggested that board members take a more active role in negotiations.

Hinton indicated the board might consider making a minor concession that would involve little or no money.

Delaney wouldn't venture an opinion on the status of negotiations, pending a mediations session at school district offices tonight.

Delaney claimed the "problem" would come if the mediator asked any of the board members present to move to another room, separate from the teacher negotiating team.

Barnes agreed with Delaney's comments.

Barnes, on the question of security guards at schools, said he would vote this morning to have them withdrawn. Delaney did not say how he would vote.

Hinton thought placement of security guards at district schools was "ridiculous."

Garden renter

Lee Thomas toils and gets results with his garden plot, under a program sponsored by Livermore Area Recreation and Park District. Ten plots are still available for rent, each 15 by 20 feet with a water connection for every four plots. The gardens rent for $12 a year and a refundable $2 key deposit is required. The area is surrounded by a chain link fence to prevent vandalism. Users supply their own hoses and tools for the gardens, located off Olivina Avenue, west of Murrieta and reached by following Turnstone Drive to its east end. Gardens will be assigned on first come, first served basis. No pesticides are permitted. Sign up at LARPD offices, 71 Trevarno Rd.

Thomas' small garden either has or will have tomatoes, brussel sprouts, spinach, turnips, cauliflower and lettuce. His wife made sure to include some bright yellow zinnias and chrysanthemums.

Datsun introduces the family cars with a 240-Z engine.

The New 810

Fuel injected response.

Suddenly, there's a family car that performs and handles like a 240-Z.

No more crawling up hills or creeping onto highways. Because Datsun's new 810 gives you six cylinders of power. Packed into a proven 240-Z engine that's been tried, tested and retested.

Sedan or station wagon.

Suddenly, two new cars with a built-in reputation for durability and long life.

Both with solid unibody construction for smooth handling and a quiet ride. Plus the added advantage of fully independent suspension in the sedan.

Comfort of a mid-size car.

Suddenly, an economical family car that doesn't skimp on comfort.

In fact, comfort reaches some pretty high standards in the new

810. You'll like the lush, fully appointed interior, tilt steering wheel and six-way adjustable driver's seat.

For your feet there's plush cut-pile carpeting, for your pleasure an AM/FM stereo radio. And for your peace of mind: steel belted radials and automatic maintenance warning system.

And even a few options: automatic transmission, power steering and air conditioning.

If you've been thinking about cars like the Granada, Volvo or BMW, why not consider an 810? Compared to the six-cylinder Volvo or BMW for example, you'll save at least $2000. And once you drive the 810, you'll feel the difference in no time flat.

Test-drive a new 810 at your Datsun Dealer today.

Suddenly it's going to dawn on you.

Ann Landers

His request wasn't sick

Dear Ann Landers: I hope you will let me reply to "Bedroom Trouble Up North." He's the man who asked his wife to wear black nylon stockings and a garter belt to bed. The poor fellow needs to be told he's not nuts.

Dear B.T.: I know how frustrated you must feel. Your request was reasonable, honest and healthy, not in the least sick. I admire the loyalty you demonstrated by seeking advice from Ann Landers. In your letter you said you didn't want to "run around," just wanted to know if your request was weird.

As a former call girl I've met hundreds of men who needed an outlet for frustration, without making a commitment. I also met men who were bothered by feelings of abnormality because they were turned on by simple things like black stockings and garter belts. I know the scene well. Their uptight, small - minded wives had laid guilt traps for these imaginative, normal males.

There is no harm in putting a little zing in the bedroom performance. Husbands should not need to go outside of marriage for excitement. How sad that so many wives have been warped by man - hating mothers who taught them sex is a "duty." Poor things. Sign me — At Home With All Kinds

Dear At Home: As a former member of the oldest profession you are certainly qualified to speak on this subject in a way very few can. Thank you for writing.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: I need to know if my girlfriend and I are related.

Her brother married my sister. Since I am an uncle of their son and my girl friend is the little boy's aunt, it does make us relatives, doesn't it? She says no.

I'm worried about marrying a relative because our children might not be right mentally.

I hope you can figure out what I'm trying to say. With a high - school education this is as good as I can do. — Andy

Dear Andy: You are not blood relatives, just kin by marriage. Go ahead and marry the girl, if this is the only thing about her that brothers you.

Historical request washed out

DUBLIN — The Valley Community Services District declined a request from the Dublin Historical Preservation Association to allow a two-inch reduction in a proposed water line to serve Old Murray School.

During a board session Tuesday night, VCSD director Ron Hyde said, "It is the board's intention to accommodate the Dublin Historical Preservation Association in every way possible but we must consider the overall safety of the area surrounding the Heritage Center as well as the Heritage Center itself."

VCSD Fire Chief, Philip A. Phillips, said the request to reduce the water main size from eight to six inches as requested would decrease residual pressure. This would not allow sufficient water pressure to develop to suppress a large fire in the school building or adjoining buildings.

Phillips pointed out 50 pounds of pressure would be lost in a six-inch main as opposed to a 10 pound loss in the eight-inch size. He also said VCSD's insurance grading would be affected negatively by a two-inch reduction.

Plaudits for footing bill

PLEASANTON — Thurmond Caudill thinks it's great that the city council decided to pay George Withers' legal fees in his appeal against the city manager reducing his rank.

Caudill said so under the oral communications section of the city council agenda Monday night.

"A unanimous vote would have been better, but three out of five is good," said Caudill.

Withers was demoted from captain to lieutenant after allegedly poor job performance including alleged responsibility for the accidental training burn of the historic Fallon House. The city manager reversed the decision after the city personnel board voted 4-2 that the charges had not been substantiated by city management.

Home exempt deadline

MARTINEZ — April 15 is the deadline for new homeowners in Contra Costa County to file claims for homeowners and veteran's property tax exemptions.

County Assessor E.F. Wanaka plans to send letters this month informing those who qualify.

The homeowner's exemption is available on each home occupied by its owner as their principal place of residence on March 1.

The exemption reduces the tax value of each qualified residence by $1,750. This can mean a tax saving of $130 to $260, said Wanaka, depending on the area's tax rate.

Under current state legislation, most homeowners will not have to file a claim for the exemption to obtain its benefits. The exemption is automatically extended to 1977-78 tax bills who received the exemption last year — provided they still reside in the same house and have no change in their property's description or assessor's parcel number.

Such persons are being sent a form which needs to be returned only if there is an error or change in information.

Wanaka said persons living in a dwelling eligible for the exemption should receive either a claim card or an exemption termination/correction card in the mail by March 20.

Homeowners who don't receive either card should contact the assessor's exemption section immediately after March 20. The address is 834 Court St., Martinez. If calling, the number is 372-2292.

Homeowners who were 62 years of age or older on Jan. 1, 1977 may be eligible for property tax relief if their total household income for 1976 is $12,000 or less. Seniors who qualify should file between May 16 and August 31, 1977.

DATSUN NEW 810-FAMILY Z CAR

Chances are, you're wondering why we call our new 810 a Z-Car. After all! It doesn't look like one. True. But it sure performs like one. It should. Because it's powered by an electronic fuel injected 6 cylinder engine. Like the Z. Exciting as this is, the 810 has a lot more going for it than just Z-power. As you will see, the more you look into this new Datsun, the more exciting it gets.

IMMEDIATE DELIVERY

DATSUNS NEW 200 SX

Meet the economy car that performs like a sweet handling sports car. In tests conducted by an independent research firm, Datsun's new 200-SX zipped from 0-60 in under 12 seconds. Quickly stopped from 60-0 in less than 160 feet. And proved to be exceptionally swift and smooth in tight corners. But there's one big difference between the SX and a sports car. It doesn't cost like one.
